UBA IN A BAD WAY; U. S. MAY INTERFERE

SENATORS GO AHEAD ON PLAN TO CURB NAVIES

France, Italy, May Be Approached Also.

By ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
Washington, D. C., Jan. 3.—(Special.)—Despite objections raised by the navy, the Borah plan for a world conference on curtailing naval building programs appeared to have made considerable headway at today's meeting of the senate foreign relations committee.

It seems to be settled that the committee will report out a resolution based on the Borah scheme, and there is little inclination on the part of members to hold up the measure until the new administration comes into office.

They are willing to let the resolution take its chances of obtaining President Wilson's approval, believing that in view of his labors for world peace, he would not hesitate to sign such a measure.

May Include All "Big Five."

The Borah resolution, in its present form, provides for the calling of a conference of representatives of the United States, Great Britain, and Japan, the chief naval powers, with a view to agreeing to cut down naval building programs 50 per cent each year for the next five years. The disposition of the committee seems to be to amend the resolution to include France and Italy, at least, as a matter of courtesy.

Senator Borah, Idaho, author of the resolution, fears the inclusion of these two powers might create damaging, if not fatal, complications. He is afraid that it would bring the question of land disarmament to the fore, particularly in the case of France, and lead to dissensions that, probably would break up the conference.

Nevertheless, he said he was willing to agree to the amendment if by so doing he can get the nations gathered about a round table to discuss a concrete proposal to curtail naval building.

Wants to Plumb Japan.

He desires to ascertain how far Japan is willing to go in backing up her assertions of a willingness to quit building battleships if the United States would do likewise.

Admiral Coady, chief of naval operations, and Admiral Long, chief of the intelligence division of naval operations, testified before the foreign relations committee today in secret session. They were called to furnish information about the relative strength and building programs of the principal naval powers and to present the professional navy view of the Borah scheme.

Without openly declaring their opposition, they made it fairly plain that they do not look upon the idea of a naval building holiday with any great degree of favor.

Firm for Present Status.

Admiral Coady, it was stated, was emphatic in declaring that the United States must keep its proportionate naval strength. He thought it would be a great mistake to sacrifice its present standing. He contended that it would not be feasible to create a fixed percentage of annual reduction of building because this would "create a serious inequality."

There was a temporary thrill when Admiral Coady informed the committee that three large battleships are being built for Japan in English shipyards. It developed that members of the committee previously knew this. It is understood Admiral Coady's information showed that the British building program was inconceivable; that Japan's was about half that of the United States, while France, Italy and Germany contemplated only a small program. The committee will meet again on Wednesday to hear Senator Walsh, Montana, advocate his resolution requesting President Wilson to appoint an American delegate to the league of nations disarmament conference.

OPERA CURTAIN STRIKES; HOTELS' ELEVATORS STOP

Twenty Minute Delay for 'Elisir d'Amore.'

Belated arrivals from among the society contingent settled back in their comfortable seats, and those whom legend sometimes calls the true lovers of art strained forward from the gallery eminences of the Auditorium last evening. The opera "Elisir d'Amore" was ready to begin. But the curtain didn't move.

A puzzled look stole over the countenance of Marinuzzi, the conductor.

On Trouble's Trail.

Back stage the electrician had turned all the switches and torn his hair in vain. There was scurrying about to find the cause. Everything was intact. All was as it should be—all save the electrical current.

There was hurried telephoning to the engine rooms of the Congress hotel, where the current is generated.

"Curtain stuck? O, yes," said the engineer, consulting his steam gauges. "It appears the pressure is a little weak."

"But be patient," the engineer added. "We'll fix it up."

Lifts Stop; Lights Out.

All elevators in the Congress, the Annex, the Auditorium, the Fine Arts building, which obtain current from the same source, were stopped. All lights that could be dispensed with were cut out.

Finally the power was on and the ponderous steel screen in the Auditorium took its slow course upward. Then Conductor Marinuzzi raised his baton and the first strains of "Elisir d'Amore" swept through the theater. The delay had been twenty minutes.

THE CREED OF A PHILOSOPHER

(Copyright, 1921, by The Chicago Tribune.)

I will eat less. People eat too much, anyway. The Chinese eat a little rice and a heavy day's work. The French and Italian peasants take some bread and wine and a little cheese and thrive on it. Maciweiny lived over two months without food. We eat three big meals and overwork our digestion. More people suffer from overeating than from any other cause.

I will drink less. Alcoholic stimulants are harmful if taken in excess. Most people don't begin to enjoy them until they reach that stage. The world is better off without them, but doesn't believe it. Many people like to take it or let it alone, so they don't know what the effect of letting it alone may be. This is the temperate zone of the world. More people suffer from overeating than from any other cause.

I will take a cheerful view. If pessimism prevailed the wheels of progress would stop. Pessimists are always predicting calamity. They make themselves miserable and then get a mournful pleasure in their misery. The ignorant sayings are happier than the intellectual. He enjoys today, without fretting about tomorrow. It is well to enjoy the present, for that is the time you live. No one ever reaches the future.

I will work hard, but not all the time. Hard work never kills, although it kills when taken in excess. Time hangs heavy for the unemployed. Occupation keeps you from thinking about your troubles. It keeps your cells in action. The world looks better seen with healthy eyes. A lot of people keep well because they are too afraid to get sick. People with too much leisure are always finding symptoms and consulting doctors.

I will spend less. I will not blow my money just to give exercise. I will buy the things I need and stop buying the things I don't need. What I don't spend I will save for a rainy day. I have always had rainy days in this climate and may expect others in the future. And, besides, when it rains you stay inside, where there is less opportunity for spending. If you saved nothing but daylight you are busted.

I will be square with myself and with the world. You get what you give. If you don't like people, people won't like you. If you make no effort to make life pleasant for others you can't expect others to make life pleasant for you. If you are not square with yourself don't expect others to be square with you. Many people like to criticize, but don't like to be criticized. The one invites the other. There are two sides to most questions. Don't imagine you are always on the right side. A narrow minded man can't take a broad minded view. Be tolerant.

WILSON SENDS GEN. CROWDER TO THE ISLAND

Gen. Crowder to the Island

(By a Staff Correspondent.)
Washington, D. C., Jan. 3.—(Special.)—Around by the failure of the Cuban government to stabilize financial and political conditions in the island, President Wilson has dispatched Judge Advocate General Enoch H. Crowder to Havana to confer with President Menocal.

Gen. Crowder sailed from New York Saturday on the battleship Minnesota, accompanied by a staff of American army officers.

Gen. Crowder's mission is intended to awaken the Cuban people to realization of the imminence of American intervention if their government fails to remedy the present situation.

Crisis Evidently Incurable.

"The moratorium and financial crisis in Cuba continues, the solution of which appears more difficult on account of the unsettled presidential election," the White House statement said. "A continuation of the present situation would prove most detrimental to the prosperity of Cuba and harmful to the relations between the United States and Cuba."

"As this cannot be but a matter of the closest concern to this government, because of the special relations existing between the two countries, the president has instructed Gen. Crowder to confer with President Menocal as to the best means of remedying the situation."

Stern Hint to Island.

Gen. Crowder is authorized to intimate to the Cuban president that it will be necessary for the United States to act under the Platt amendment if the financial and political situations are not clarified expeditiously, especially as there is a possibility of revolution in Cuba.

The moratorium has been extended by the Cuban government for another month.

The state department has approved the recommendations submitted to the Cuban president by Albert Rathbone, who recently went to Cuba as financial adviser, but, so far as is known, the Cuban government has not reacted favorably.

CHASE SLAYER OF POLICEMAN; FIGHT IN STREET

Suspect Escapes as His Car Is Taken.

Edward McBride, who is alleged to have climaxed a drinking orgy with the slayer of Police Officer John Mullen in the Lincoln Gardens cabaret last night, was seen by the law.

After two companions in his after-midnight revelry had given information which betrayed his hiding place to the police, McBride in a motor car eluded the officers by fighting a running pistol battle with them. The affray, which began at Thirtieth street and Michigan avenue, was witnessed by scores of motorists, who steered their machines quickly to the curb to get out of the line of fire.

Detectives gave up the chase at Twenty-fifth and State streets when their motor was caught in a jam of traffic.

Abandon Car, Escape.

Half an hour later McBride's machine was found in front of 728 Riverside street by Detective Sergeants Charles Smith and Gustav Melchior of the Chicago police force. Two men were fleeing from it. The detectives chased them, but they disappeared in an alley. The car, a Buick, bearing Illinois license number 331473, and riddled with bullets, was towed to the detective bureau.

Two hundred and fifty policemen were sent in search of the slayer suspect and his companion, who is said to have been Edward Hall.

Girls Give Police Clue.

The chase which almost resulted in their capture was directed by Lieut. William H. Schoemaker. He was acting upon information supplied by Genevieve Johnson, a petite 17-year-old blonde. And by Victoria Smith, 16 years old, of 1428 Sloan street.

Both girls had been with McBride's party at the Lincoln Gardens cabaret shortly before Mullen was killed. James Crosby, another member of the party, was arrested yesterday and named McBride as the slayer.

McBride and Hill live at the Harmonia hotel, Thirtieth and Indiana avenues, she told Lieut. Schoemaker. "If you go there tonight you'll find them. But you'd better look out for trouble. They're armed. They have rooms on a lower floor, near a fire escape, and they won't be captured easily."

Set Trap at Hotel.

The lieutenant took a squad consisting of Sergt. Michael Grady and Detective Sergeants Joseph Bonan, Patrick O'Neill, and William Carter. Grady and O'Neill were placed in the room occupied by McBride and Hill. The hotel clerk said he expected them in about 11 o'clock. Lieut. Schoemaker notified the bureau reinforcements would be necessary. So Lieut. John Norton and a squad were sent.

Shoot from Hiding Place.

Riding in a Lister automobile, they reached Thirtieth and Michigan just as the car described as McBride's arrived. Norton called upon the occupants to halt. They swerved swiftly and sped west in Thirtieth street. The police followed, their seven occupants firing their revolvers. The fire was returned. The chase led to State street and then north, until Norton's car was outmaneuvered at a side street, and the quarry escaped.

The detectives toured the district during most of the night, visiting places suggested by the young women.

Life Threatened, Girl Says.

The Sloan girl told a vivid story of her experiences following the murder. After McBride had shot Police Officer Mullen, she said, he and Hill forced her to enter a motor car which was waiting and the car was placed in the alley. She said she was threatened with death.

"Let's throw her in the lake," she declared one of them said. "Then she can't talk."

"They determined to gag and tie my hands," the Sloan girl continued. "But I begged them not to. I pleaded to be allowed to live. But they said 'It was no use; they'd have to kill me.'"

Rob Man During Fight.

"Finally McBride decided he'd have to have some money. We were then somewhere in North Avenue. 'Well, stick up the cash man, we

OLD MOTHER EARTH TAKES UP SHIMMY; WILDER EACH YEAR

Victoria, B. C., Jan. 3.—This old terra-cotta creation is slowly developing a chronic case of effervescent convulsions.

The diagnosis was made here today from seismographic tabulations by professors who frequent the Gonzales Heights observatory.

In the last year they said the earth had suffered 141 fits of palpitating, perturbing tremors, the greatest number recorded in one year since the Gonzales Heights instrument was installed in 1899.

FOXIE, KIDS' CHUM, FIGHTS ROBBERS, DIES HERO DEATH

Foxie, the 2-year-old canine playmate and defender of the children of Fargo avenue, near Sheridan road, will frisk about with them no longer.

The dog, owned by Herman Rosen of 1431 Fargo avenue, died a hero's death yesterday after having been wounded by two burglars.

There will be a funeral today instead of the usual meriment. The kids of the neighborhood are heartbroken over Foxie's tragic death, and when the little fox terrier's body is lowered into the ground in Mr. Rosen's back yard they will be present in numbers to pay tribute to his memory.

Foxie surprised the burglars as they gained entrance to the basement of his master's home. He attacked them. A shot was fired. Two men were seen running away. The trousers of one were torn to shreds. The other had wrapped a handkerchief around a bleeding hand.

When the police arrived Foxie was dead.

WILSON VETOES FARM BILL; SENT BACK BY SENATE

War Finance Measure Is Quickly Re-enacted.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 3.—Veto by President Wilson today of the farmers' bill to revive the War Finance Corporation was followed almost immediately by a vote of 53 to 5 in the senate to make the bill a law despite presidential disapproval.

The house will take up the measure tomorrow and predictions were general that it would duplicate the senate's action and thus place the bill on the statute books.

President Wilson, in a lengthy veto message, declared he withheld his approval of the bill because the War Finance Corporation was a war credit agency, not desirable or needed in peace times.

World Raise False Hopes. He said it "would exert no beneficial influence on the situation... would raise false hopes among the very people who would expect most, and would be harmful to the natural and orderly processes of business and finance."

The legislation, the president said, would result in additional credit to the government, he contended, should not be "called upon to finance private business at public expense."

Referring to widespread demand for establishment of war agencies and removal of governmental influence from business, the president said he had "sympathy with this view and added that the nation should resume its usual business methods."

Evils Offset Benefits. The president said that the resolution was passed by the senate apparently with the thought that, "in view of the recent sudden and considerable fall in prices, especially of agricultural commodities, some European countries might again be enabled to resume their importation and that larger masses of domestic exports to European countries generally might be stimulated, with the resulting enhancement of domestic prices."

"I am not convinced that the method proposed is wise," he said, "that the benefits, if any, would offset the evils which would result."

Europe Unable to Pay. Repeating that exports of domestic products had not declined since the armistice, but, on the contrary, had greatly increased, and giving figures to support the statement, the president continued:

"There have been largely privately financed. The difficulty in the way of our larger exports does not seem to lie so much in the lack of financial ability as in Europe's lack of means to make payment."

"Until this obstacle is removed it is difficult to see how materially larger exports to Europe are to be made even if exporters, aided or unaided by government finance, stand ready to do their part."

Party Lines Perish in Vote. Upon reading of the veto message in the senate, Senator Underwood of Alabama, Democratic leader, urged its immediate consideration, for which unanimous consent was secured. Senator Underwood made the only address, declaring that financial distress now was greater than during the war and that he felt confident the wise administration of the proposed law would "no undue drain on the treasury."

On the senate roll call, twenty-nine Democrats were joined by twenty-four Republicans in overriding the veto.

Supporting the president's position were two Democrats, Senators Gerry, Rhode Island, and Thomas of Colorado, and three Republicans, Ellsworth Sutherland of West Virginia and Keyes of New Hampshire. Senator Penrose of Pennsylvania, a Republican leader, was paired, but announced that he would have voted to sustain the veto.

Veto Read in House Also. The president's message was read in the house also. Representative Mondell of Wyoming, Republican leader, announced later that it would be taken up tomorrow at the opening of the session, but without any definite arrangements for a vote. The house passed the bill by a vote of 212 to 61.

Senator Edge, Republican, New Jersey, issued a statement tonight declaring that the president's arguments against the bill were "absolutely unavailing." By issuing bonds the finance corporation, Senator Edge said, would "adversely affect the present financial and economic situation without any direct resultant good to producers."

GIBBONS HAPPY AT BEING BACK IN BALTIMORE HOME

Cardinal Shows Further Improvement.

Baltimore, Md., Jan. 3.—After the first time since Dec. 12, when he was stricken after a service in St. Joseph's church, Cardinal Gibbons slept tonight in the plain little room in his residence where he has lived and worked for many years.

He was removed to his home today by automobile from the Robert T. Shriver home, in Union Mills. Apparently he suffered slightly from the fatigue of the journey.

The cardinal's physicians were pleased at the way in which he withstood the fatigue of the thirty-five mile trip. Although advantage had been taken of an unusually favorable turn in his illness to bring him home, the physicians were somewhat uneasy as to the outcome. Due to the weakness induced by a long sojourn in bed, they would not have been surprised if a temporary setback had resulted, but only the ordinary reaction of slight fatigue occurred.

Dr. O'Donovan and Dr. Wetzel believe that the easing of the cardinal's anxiety to be back home will have a beneficial effect.

CAPITOL OF W. VA. BURNED; 1 KILLED; SUSPECT ARSON

Mystery Veils Fire; Several Hurt.

Charleston, W. Va., Jan. 3.—The capitol building of West Virginia was destroyed by fire today. One laborer was killed and several firemen injured when a section of roof under which they were standing caved in. There was great danger to the firemen when much ammunition, stored on the third floor of the building, exploded.

The fire started in the left of the capitol building. Firemen soon found that point inaccessible and turned their attention to other sections of the big building. The flames spread rapidly and the third floor, where much ammunition was stored, was soon ablaze.

The firemen were then forced to back away from the exploding cartridges. Blast after blast marked the progress of the fire.

Gov. John J. Cornwell was in his office and was one of the last to leave. Within four hours, the capitol building, containing the governor's office, state departments, and "priceless records," was nothing but a mass of smoking ruins.

The building, erected in 1881 at a cost of more than $400,000, is believed to have been the only brick capitol in the United States. State officials today said that the building was valued at approximately $1,250,000.

No authoritative statement was made as to insurance, but some officials said that the $500,000 they thought was carried would not cover the losses.

There is a suspicion that the fire has some connection with the scores of blues which have been started throughout West Virginia and western Pennsylvania by firebugs in the last month. These fires, which were directed mainly at schools and churches, have been thought the work of a bolshevik organization.

Judge C. C. Edwards wished to deliberate until Thursday on a motion to quash the indictment. For that reason, and because of the death of Tyrrell's daughter, Mrs. Ellen Holmquist, the case was continued until next Monday. Each of the twenty members of the police force was returned a fee of $500 bond for his appearance.

State's Attorney A. V. Smith asked that the trial be started as soon as possible.

FRIAR, MODERN DON JUAN, ALSO THIEF, MURDERER

Wild Tale of Evil Told at Trial; Gets 24 Years.

(Chicago Tribune-New York Times Cable.) [Copyright, 1921.]

MILAN, Jan. 3.—Before the Naples Assizes court an extraordinary five weeks' trial has just closed. Padre Salvatore Ciavolino, one of the foremost pulpit orators among the Franciscan friars in southern Italy, only 34 years old, has been on trial for murdering his superior, Padre Nicola Grossi, father provincial of Naples.

A sentence of twenty-four years' imprisonment and four years of police supervision has been passed upon him.

Ciavolino's shocking crime came as a climax to a ten years' career of astounding lissans. When 21, he had conferred on him the priest hood but a doctorate in theology and in canon law.

Wherever he went he left cruel traces of his Don Juan proclivities. In the judicial dossier no fewer than thirty-two histories of families he ruined are recorded against him. Thousands of love letters, photograph albums, and gifts from his admirers were seized in his convent cell.

Ciavolino confessed that soon after pronouncing his solemn vows he dropped his belief in religion, but was assiduous in discharging the external functions of his ministry merely for the sake of fees and easy facilities afforded him for conquests of the fair sex.

Being an expert gambler, Ciavolino racked his brains to break the national lottery bank. He tried hard to get himself initiated in Free Masonry and undertook to apostatize from his church if accorded membership.

Ciavolino's final adventure, which led up to the tragedy, was his liaison with Nina Dambrosio, a popular Neapolitan movie hall star. For more than twelve months he had maintained her at the Pension Amato in Naples. Meantime, he frequented theaters at which she appeared, sometimes in lay attire, at others in his monastic habit.

Demanding Help from Padre. Ciavolino, being in urgent need of funds to meet Nina's extravagance, sought aid from Padre Grossi. The latter arranged a private interview at the house of Ciavolino's brother at Meduechio, where the recalcitrant friar was then lodging. Ciavolino had arranged to send the whole family away.

It appears Grossi refused to meet Ciavolino's debts and ordered him to doff his religious garb and remove his effects from the Portici convent within twenty-four hours.

Ciavolino sprang at Grossi, with a heavy iron bar, smote his superior about the head till he dropped unconscious, afterwards making sure he was dead by tying a cord around his throat. He next rifled the corpse of a gold watch and bank notes.

That night Ciavolino returned to the monastery and snatched it for money.

New York, Jan. 3.—The distinction between grand opera, comic opera, and operetta precipitated today a wage controversy between Mrs. Oscar Hammerstein, director of the Manhattan Opera house, and stage hands.

Mrs. Hammerstein asserted productions at the house this season have been either comic operas or operettas. The stage hands, who under an agreement are entitled to a 20 per cent pay increase when grand opera is staged, claimed otherwise.

When the stage hands threatened to strike, unless granted the increase, Mrs. Hammerstein paid, under protest. The United Managers' Protective association was asked by Mrs. Hammerstein to decide to which category the productions belong.

NAVY FLYERS TO HIT LONG TRAIL OF ICE FOR HOME

Must Ride Dog Sleds to Head of Railroad.

Cochrane, Ont., Jan. 3.—Canadian mounted police stationed at Hallettbury, announced tonight that a trained messenger would be sent to meet and escort the three American naval balloonists now making their way, by dog sleds to an Ontario railroad, after being missing for nearly three weeks.

The officers, who found refuge at Moose Factory, on James Bay, after being lost in the Canadian woods for four days, are believed to be headed for either Mattice or Cochrane on the Canadian National Trans-Continental railway.

Mercury 30 Below. Barring unfavorable weather conditions, the three men, who are accompanied by experienced guides, should reach the railroad Saturday or Sunday. Their progress necessarily is slow because of the frozen and snow swept trails and the cold weather, which now registers 30 degrees below zero in that region.

With the exception of the message, which they sent by Indian runners to Mattice, from where it was telegraphed to the Rockaway, N. Y. Naval Air station, no details of their flight or rescue are known here.

Made Furthest North Flight. While their flight of approximately 800 miles was not a long distance or time record, the aviators probably reached a point farther north than ever before attained by a free air balloon. They left the Rockaway Air station at 12:15 p. m. Dec. 13, and landed at 2 p. m. the next day. Knowing that the prevailing winds would carry them over the mountainous districts of northern New York, the aviators probably purposely kept their craft at a high altitude, especially at night.

When dawn broke, they presumably found themselves over the dense Canadian woods and decided to keep going until they could find an open space and land safely.

SPA DEMANDS TOO DIFFICULT, GERMAN PLAIN

France Protests Evasions as to Disarmament.

PARIS, Jan. 3.—The German reply to the French disarmament note of Dec. 31 was delivered to the French foreign office late today. It is semi-officially reported that the reply answers point by point the detailed observations made by the French document on the German delinquencies in executing the military, naval, and aerial clauses of the Versailles treaty and the Spa agreement.

The German note, which is quite long, is said to be generally written in the spirit of its closing paragraph.

"Terms Are Impossible." This says: "The government cannot suppose that one wished to ask the impossible of Germany in the Spa agreement. Execution to the letter of that convention has shown itself to be impossible."

"The possible has been done. The French government in its note of Dec. 31 sets forth that the engagements undertaken at Spa have not been strictly fulfilled, but the German government reminds it that, according to the allies' own words, it should be ascertained if Germany has loyally executed the terms of the agreement. The German government can say she has done her best in all ways."

What Paris Complains Of.

BERLIN, Jan. 3.—France's note to Germany relative to disarmament is an exhaustive document covering in detail Germany's failure to comply with the requirements of the Spa protocol of July 29, concerning disarmament of the security police and the delivery of surplus war material and guns.

Complaint is made that the measures taken to bring the control committee into harmony with the military clauses of the treaty are inadequate, that the control commission has not been able to verify the German claim of reduction of the regular army to the required 100,000, and that systematic resistance is being offered to orders for destruction of aeronautic material.

Why East Prussia Is Armed.

With regard to the East Prussian and Bavarian defense police the Berlin reply says Germany has not refused to disarm them. Conditions in the two districts, it explains, do not permit proceeding with the same rapidity as in other parts of Germany.

The assumption that the Bavarian enwohnwehren and East Prussian local guards and frontier guards are still connected with the reichswehr is declared incorrect.

After stating that compulsory military service has been abolished, the note says the control committee's objections to the reichswehr bill are being examined "by competent authorities."

The reply concludes by saying that no resistance has been offered to the carrying out of the aerial navigation provisions, and that only very small quantities of aerial material are outstanding.

Reprimand for Evasions.

The ambassadors' council at Paris has replied to the German note of Dec. 28, in which Germany protested against the dismantling of guns in fortresses on the southern and eastern frontiers of Germany as an infraction of the peace treaty, which it was asserted permitted the fortresses to remain in the same state as they were on Jan. 10, 1920.

The ambassadors' note declares: "After a most thorough examination of the question, the ambassadors' council cannot accept the German government's contentions, either in principle or in detail. It has, therefore, decided to uphold the decisions of the control commission without any modifications."

WILSON HATED FOR WASTE, MANN TELLS CONGRESS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 3.—Pleading for economy in government expenditures, Representative Mann, Republican of Illinois, declared today in the house that the one thing that "made President Wilson the most hated man in the United States" was the gross wastefulness of the present administration.

"The people north and south were sore over the orgy of extravagance," said he. "If this side of the house (the Republicans) is wise, it will heed the warning. Unless the new president helps to run an economical administration, he will never be returned to the White House."

TRIESTE, Jan. 3.—Fiume continues sealed behind an airtight blockade which will be maintained until all the clauses in the protocol have been fulfilled.

Last night, twenty Arditi, D'Annunzio's boy adventurers, attempted to escape from Fiume harbor with arms, ammunition, and a machine gun. One of six searchlights playing on the harbor picked them up and they were taken aboard a patrolling destroyer.

Their destination is not known, as a number of D'Annunzio's soldiers are wanted by the police and it is possible that the twenty sought to escape to avoid future punishment.

Arditi Give Up Arms.

In a military way everything is progressing smoothly at Fiume. The legionnaires peacefully are giving up their arms and the posts for guarding the town are being filled by members of a new militia formed of former legionnaires whose homes are in Fiume. TRIESTE, Jan. 3.—Fiume continues sealed behind an airtight blockade which will be maintained until all the clauses in the protocol have been fulfilled.

Last night, twenty Arditi, D'Annunzio's boy adventurers, attempted to escape from Fiume harbor with arms, ammunition, and a machine gun. One of six searchlights playing on the harbor picked them up and they were taken aboard a patrolling destroyer.

Their destination is not known, as a number of D'Annunzio's soldiers are wanted by the police and it is possible that the twenty sought to escape to avoid future punishment.

Arditi Give Up Arms.

In a military way everything is progressing smoothly at Fiume. The legionnaires peacefully are giving up their arms and the posts for guarding the town are being filled by members of a new militia formed of former legionnaires whose homes are in Fiume. The royal troops are being withdrawn from the captured portions of the city.

Conditions among Fiume's poor are terrible. What little food there is held at high prices and there is little effort toward rations for those hungry.

For fifteen months Fiume has been hungry under the leadership of the dashing poet, and the laboring people practically are without work. Conditions have been harder since the normal life of the harbor died. It will be a long time before Fiume regains her prosperity.

Deserters Rejoin Fleet.

Yesterday two of D'Annunzio's destroyers, the Bronzetti and the Espero, sailed from Fiume and joined the royal fleet at Palo. The Espero was damaged by shell fire during the bombardment, but not seriously.

The movement of troops from the Fiume district will start Jan. 5. The plans of D'Annunzio still are unknown here.

Evans Council to Plan Drive on Morons Tonight

Morons will be the chief theme of discussion tonight at the first 1921 meeting of the Evanson city council. Numerous attacks on women have aroused the citizens. Aid. W. C. Bailey announces he will address the council concerning suppression of news of burglaries and holdups, the closed police blotter, and the alleged failure of the police to arrest any one in the drive against the moron menace. The Evanson department numbers thirty-three patrolmen, five sergeants, a captain, and the chief. Some citizens favor an appropriation to augment the department.

GARY OFFICIALS SEEK DUNN FOR MURDER TRIAL

"Sonny's" Bonds Here
Fixed at $40,000.

William "Sonny" Dunn, gunman and fugitive from justice, captured yesterday by a squad of deputy sheriffs, was being attended a cock fight at the Sag, lost some of his insouciance yesterday. He learned that Gary (Ind.) authorities are going to make a determined fight to place him on trial there for the murder of Spencer Tillman, a colored porter, who was shot and killed on December 1917, by a gang of hoodlums, one of which Dunn was said to have been a member.

Prosecuting Attorney Dwight M. Kinder and Chief of Police W. A. Foran of Gary notified the state's attorney's office here of their desire to have Dunn tried.

Dunn, when arrested spoke of his ability to "beat" a number of automobiles left cases lodged against him and of the ease with which he would refuse the charge "Smiling" Jack O'Brien made on the scaffold that Dunn murdered Detective Sergeant Richard Burke.

Dunn's Bonds Boosted.
Special Assistant State's Attorney Stephen A. Malato, who has been chosen to give special attention to automobile theft cases, has promised "Sonny" a trial that will be "real." Dunn's bonds were raised to $40,000 by Chief Justice Charles A. McDonald and the trial set for Jan. 12. Dunn wanted to get a later date, but his protests carried no weight.

Dunn yesterday in his cell said that he had intended to surrender to face the numerous charges against him, feeling certain, he said, that he would eventually be freed.

Clyde Hunter, former state's attorney in Gary, scouted Dunn's statements and asserted Dunn only escaped the gallows for the shooting in Gary through "your habeas corpus judges in Chicago."

Tells How Dunn Escaped.
"Dunn was accused of the Tillman murder," Mr. Hunter said, "and we requested the Chicago police to arrest him. They did, and we had a lot of witnesses down here, but Judge David ruled the evidence insufficient and released him."

Tillman was accompanying Mike Binzen, a saloonkeeper, to a Gary bank when the three robbers descended on them. Binzen, carrying $10,000, was robbed, and Tillman was murdered when he fought the bandits.

"Dunn will be brought to Gary for trial if Binzen, who has moved to Washington, will return to prosecute," Chief Foran said yesterday. "I have wired him to come. He has been to a lot of trouble, but I think he will come back."

LANDLORD GETS TIME TO APPEAL JAIL SENTENCE

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 3.—[Special.]—George A. Reid, wealthy landlord, was sentenced by Judge Gehrs today to imprisonment in the county jail until such time as he would testify before the rent bureau. A stay of execution was granted so that his attorneys might appeal to the Supreme court. Reid was charged with contempt for his refusal to testify before the rent board regarding alleged excessive rents.

In imposing the sentence the court asserted that landlords future might expect the same action if they ignored summons of the rent board or otherwise failed to carry out provisions of the state rent act.

Reid's attorneys declared he was testing the validity of the rent law. If the decision is against him he will testify.

EXPOSE PLOT OF RUM FORGERS TO FLOOD CHICAGO

U. S. Agents Seek Men in $100,000 Ring.

With the arraignment yesterday of James Shea, a New York private detective, and Jack Costello, a New York actor, before Commissioner Lewis F. Mason on charges of attempting to forge whisky permits, federal officials declared a unique conspiracy had been uncovered.

Shea and Costello were arrested in a oop hotel last Friday, following a tip from New York City to Prohibition Director Richardson. Papers found in their possession, according to the federal officials, named several Chicago men, some prominent in business circles, as financial backers.

Yesterday William Henning, a dealer in tractors, was picked up by the federal squad. He immediately confessed to Richardson his share in the deal, which apparently concerned the sending of $400 to Costello in New York to pay for his trip to Chicago.

Others Named in Deal.
Henning named a prominent Rogers Park resident, who, he said, added in the deal. Prohibition agents failed to find this man last night. Four others named in the affair will be questioned today, it is said.

Shea when arrested had a number of whisky permits to which the name of W. F. Van Mater, prohibition director of New Jersey, had been forged. The permits had not been completely filled out. A rubber stamp bearing a facsimile of Director Van Mater's signature was found in Shea's room.

Federal agents say Costello and Shea bribed telephone girls in government offices in New York. The stolen permit would be presented to the wholesaler, who would call the prohibition offices. The telephone girl would assure the wholesaler the permit was good and the whisky would be delivered. Over $100,000 of booze is said to have been obtained in this way.

Just Starting Scheme Here.
The gang apparently had just come to Chicago to begin similar operations here when nabbed.

"So far we have no evidence that they secured even a gallon of liquor here," Director Richardson said. "They didn't have a rubber stamp of State Director Ralph W. Stone's signature, as has been reported. They did have a telegraphic code, but that is only natural. Lots of people have them."

"I would have been a big proposition if they had gotten under way, just as it was in New York. It may result in something big here yet—we do not know. There will be more arrests in the next few days. We intend to round up every man who had anything to do with the deal."

"I don't know of any congressman who has been named. Every man we've got so far is talking his head off. They all seem willing to tell about the whole deal."

AIDED IN HOLDUP WHILE ON BONDS TO PAY A 'FIXER'

Confession Clears Up
$15,000 Robbery.

Chief of Police Fitzmorris' contention that Chicago crooks at liberty on bonds commit more robberies to pay bondsmen and lawyers' fees was borne out yesterday when Eddie Knox, 7300 Eberhart avenue, made a full confession of the $15,000 holdup at the Ward Baking company's south side plant on the night of Nov. 29.

Knox named four accomplices in the robbery. He declared he took part in it to "square" another charge pending against him in the courts. He needed money, he said, to pay bondsmen and to "fix the case." The police did not disclose whether Knox named the "fixer."

Three of the four named by Knox are said to be in custody, and detectives are searching for the fifth man.

Arrested in Saloon Raid.
Knox was arrested under the name of Floyd Thomas in a saloon at Thirty-ninth street and Cottage Grove avenue on Nov. 19 by a raiding squad headed by Lieut. William Schumaker.

Among those arrested with him were George Devereaux, 4511 Vincennes avenue, and James Wheatly. Knox is said to have implicated them in the Ward Baking company's robbery and he was booked on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon. Arraigned before Judge Doyle.

On Nov. 21, he obtained a continuance and immediately secured his release on bonds.

"I paid a bondsmen $200 to get me out," Knox told Chief Fitzmorris. "It was going to cost me $175 more to fix the case. I was told, so I had to get the dough some way. That's why I agreed to help out in the Ward Baking company job. I got $400 as my share. I thought I got a square split because a lot of the stuff they got there was paper."

The case charging Knox with carrying a concealed weapon was set for Dec. 7 and continued a second time to Dec. 15. He failed to appear. His bonds were ordered forfeited and he was picked up later.

Crooks Work for Bondsmen.
"This is just another instance of crooks working for the bondsmen," Chief Fitzmorris said. "It is also another case in which the dope habit figures. I think we may be able to connect two of the men in the Ward hold-up with the shooting of Policeman Schwartz on the south side about two months ago."

Because of his attempt to shield his men who had bungled the Ward case, Capt. John J. Ryan of Englewood station was suspended by Chief Fitzmorris last Thursday.

DETROIT PLANTS REOPENING WITH SMALL FORCES

Will Increase Operation
from Day to Day.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 3.—(Special.)—Several of Detroit's plants reopened today on a part time basis, and about 12,000 men were reemployed.

Other motor car manufacturers contemplate reopening immediately after the New Year auto show, when they can begin construction of models which won favor there with prospective buyers.

Other Plants Gradually Resume.

The Cadillac Motor Car company began business today with 1,500, after a two weeks' shutdown. More than 500 men returned to work at the Studebaker corporation plant No. 5. About 200 men were reemployed at the Paige Detroit company. Officials of all these companies said the forces would be increased. More than 150 men were added to the shop force of the Lincoln Motor company last week.

Orders are beginning to come in to all the companies. Chalmers plant officials say that 300 men have been employed to begin work next Monday. Work on all closed models will begin at that time. No date has been set for resumption of work on touring cars and roadsters. At the Columbia Motor plant 12 per cent of the total working force of 600 men is working.

dent and treasurer of the Ford Motor company, announced his resignation at noon Monday.

"I have resigned from the Ford Motor company," he said, "because I am not in full accord with some of the business policies contemplated by the company in the future."

"This disagreement has been present for the last year and has finally culminated in present severing of my relations."

Charles A. Brownell, advertising manager since 1914, resigned last Friday. In making his resignation public, however, Mr. Brownell said it was prompted by the illness of his wife, who must stay in California.

Rumors that the resignations of Secretary D. B. Craig and W. F. Knudson, production manager of the Highland Park plant, followed a conference of Ford officials Monday noon were denied by Mr. Craig.

Ignore Communist Plea.

Officials of the Ford company had taken no official notice tonight of a handbill circulated Sunday by a number of the concern's employees asking that the company permit the workers to use the Ford plant, now closed for inventory, for making cars for their own use. No formal request had been made to the company for such action, it was announced.

LABOR BOYCOTT LOSES ROUND IN SUPREME COURT

Coercive Measures Held a Conspiracy.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 3.—Labor unions or their members are accountable under the anti-trust laws where they depart from their "normal and legitimate objects and engage in an actual combination or conspiracy in restraint of trade," the Supreme court held today in an opinion, on which it divided, six to three.

The court reversed lower court decrees dismissing the application of the Duplex Printing Press company of Battle Creek, Mich., for an injunction restraining Emil J. Deering and William Bramley, as business agents of the International Association of Machinists, from continuing a so-called secondary boycott.

Gompers' "Bill of Rights."

This was described by the court as "a combination not merely to refrain from dealing with complainant or to advise or by peaceful means to persuade complainants' customers to refrain (primary boycott), but to exercise coercive pressure upon such customers, actual and prospective, in order to cause them to withhold or withdraw patronage from complainant through fear of loss or damage to themselves should they deal with it."

The decision is the first to be given on what President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor has described as "labor's bill of rights."

Opinion of Dissenting Judges.

Special facts in the case should have been considered by the court, the dissenting opinion, signed by Justices

Brandeis, Holmes and Clarke, held, adding that these would have shown the acts complained of to have been in reality a part of the strike inaugurated by the union in the principal plant of the Duplex company. The defendants were obviously pursuing a course which would injure the complainant, but they "were not doing it maliciously," and the unions did not induce any employees to break his contract or engage in violence.

Pending before the court are the various plans of the companies for effecting a sale of their stockyard holdings and the petition filed by the government for appointment of trustees to take over and sell these properties.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered
Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets
are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. These little olive-colored tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel.

The pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel. Let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Headaches, "biliousness" and that larynging come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "loggy" and "heavy." They "clear" clouded brain and "perk up" spirits. Be and be.

HARDING SURE TO OFFER LOWDEN A JOB, IS REPORT

Senator Curtis Urges Tax Revision at Early Date.

BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.
Macon, O., Jan. 3.—[Special.]—Whether Gov. Lowden, Illinois, will be offered a cabinet post remains a question, but it became known today that President-elect Harding will seek to appoint him into the public service in some capacity, administrative or diplomatic. Mr. Harding announced today that he had not made cabinet offers to any one.

A special session of congress immediately after inauguration to take up emergency taxation and tariff measures was urged upon Mr. Harding today by Senator Curtis, Kansas, Republican senate whip.

Need for Revision Vital.

"Everybody admits," Senator Curtis said, "that the revenue laws should be amended to simplify the income tax returns to place the burdens where they will be easiest to bear and to get rid of some annoying taxes that yield little revenue."

"We should eliminate from the taxable list some articles that are now taxed as luxuries, and should tax real estate in some cases more heavily. Duties could be restored on many articles and increased on others so as to produce more revenue. Importation of luxuries alone amounts to $2,000,000 a year and the duties are very small."

Economy, Harding's Slogan.

Mr. Harding impressed upon Senator Curtis his anxiety to give the country an economical administration. This would be done, Mr. Curtis said, only if cabinet members work with the congress in eliminating unnecessary expenses and cutting out duplications of work. The Smoot-Reavis joint resolution, which has just been passed, provides for a reorganization commission and would save many millions, he said.

At the proper time, Senator Curtis said, he intended to suggest an amendment to the federal reserve act to establish the original Republican plan of a single central bank with branches. The present difficulty, he said, is that the regional banks compete with each other to earn as much as possible.

Shine Off Wilson League.

On international questions Senator Curtis feels the country and the senate would be glad if a plan could be

RESCUING BANDIT VICTIM

Left to right—John Metzger, butcher at 1728 Dayton street, is released from own icebox by Detective Sergeants Michael H. Schmitt and John J. Seymour after two robbers have locked him in and looted till of $75—"Just like they did two years ago."

JOHN METZGER of 1728 Dayton street was cleaning his meat market and preparing to close for the day.

"It was just two years ago today I was 'stuck up' and locked in the icebox," he remarked to the delivery boy as he bade him good night.

"They got $75 that time and they'd get more if they called tonight," he mused, as he gave a final scrape to the meat block.

"Get down early tomorrow; there's lots to do."

The delivery boy had departed and as Metzger turned around to set the lock on the door two men brushed in.

adopted whereby the danger of war could be reduced, without resorting to any part of the Wilson league.

Paul D. Cravath, New York lawyer; Gifford Pinchot, head of the department of forestry of Pennsylvania, and Congressman Townner, Iowa, head of the house committee on insular affairs also conferred with Mr. Harding today.

Heavy Sales of "Energetol" Stirs U. S. Agents; It's 32%

Hammond, Ind., Jan. 3.—Federal agents suspecting the mission of the suffering streams of humanity that fled into the store of Martin Dominik in Hammond purchased bottles containing energetol, whose labels bore the picture of a hairy chested giant radiating forked lightning in all directions. Tests showed it contained 32 per cent alcohol. Dominik was arrested some time ago for operating a still.

INSULL ROBBERS' SECOND VICTIM FOUND DYING

Struck by Auto Carrying Kidnaped Guard.

A second man is near death, it was learned yesterday, as a result of the attempt of two youthful burglars to rob the country estate of Samuel Insull near Libertyville early New Year's morning. Samuel Van Derney, the Insull watchman who was shot, kidnaped, brought to Chicago, and abandoned by the robbers, is still hovering near death in St. Elizabeth's hospital. The second victim is Robert or John Anderson, 50 years old, who is said to be dying at the Lake county poor farm from a skull fracture and exposure. He was run down by the robbers' car as they fled from the Insull estate with their wounded captive.

Found in Ditch.

It was not until yesterday that Philo Burgess, superintendent of the county farm, was able to obtain Anderson's story. He said he was discharged from the Masonic hospital in Chicago a few days ago and was walking along the road near the Insull farm at about 2 o'clock New Year's morning, when he was struck by an automobile going at terrific speed.

He was hurled into a ditch, where Marshal Dennis Limberry of Libertyville found him an hour later.

Unconscious Until Yesterday.

He was taken to the county farm hospital, where he remained unconscious until yesterday. Marshal Limberry has traced the car which injured Anderson as being the same one used by the burglars. That car, which had been stolen from a resident of La Grange, was found wrecked on the northwest side. Van Derney, unconscious, was found lying on the rear seat.

Chinaman Slain with Hammer; Feud Suspected

Chong Ding, a Chinese cook and watchman, was murdered yesterday morning in the Madison Inn at 2209 West Madison street. The slayer escaped with $400 from the cash register, but failed to get $2,000 from a safe. The body was found by Louis Hong, assistant manager. It had been crumpled into an icebox in the kitchen. The slayer's weapon, apparently, was a hammer. The police believe Chong Ding may have been the victim of a feud.

COUNCIL CALLS HI COST BEATEN; DROPS BOARD

Poole Loses Job as He Fights for Life.

Falling living costs killed the city council's H. C. of L. committee. On motion of Ald. A. A. McCormick no provision was made for the committee in the estimates of the city's 1921 needs, which the council finance committee began compiling yesterday.

While the committee was in session Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, health department epidemiologist, hurried to the home of Russell J. Poole, secretary of the committee on living costs, to treat him with anti-pneumonia serum. Mr. Poole's condition necessitated his being taken to Illinois Central hospital.

Loses $250 Job.

The finance committee's action cut off Mr. Poole's $250 a month job. "Everything is going down, and I see no reason for renewing this $10,000 a year appropriation," Ald. McCormick said. "Chairman Adamowski tells me he is willing to have his committee die after it completes its present investigations, which will take a month or two."

The principal investigations undertaken by the committee were those dealing with milk, sugar, and bread prices. Strained relations have existed between Mr. Poole and Chairman Adamowski for several weeks.

$25,000 for Traction Body.

The needs of the local transportation committee for this year were estimated at $25,000 in view of expected investigations incident to the consideration of Mayor Thompson's traction plan.

Last year's appropriation for the mayor's office—$10,250—was duplicated. The committee decided to hold sessions from 2 to 6 and 8 to 10 p. m. daily, beginning today, to complete the estimates as soon as possible. They will probably be used in the city's plea to the state legislature for more funds.

The total of the departmental estimates presented to the committee by City Comptroller Harding is $45,237,800. This estimate does not include $5,800,000 for 1920 unpaid bills and $700,000 for unpaid bills of 1919.

Opera Singer Sues for $1,000 for Auto Injuries

Mme. Anna Correnti, contralto, for the Chicago Opera company, will begin her court fight today to win $1,000 damages from C. F. Finnigan, 12115 Parnell avenue. The suit will be heard by Judge Edward Hayes. Mme. Correnti bases her action, Attorney C. C. Cunningham explains, upon injuries received in January, 1918, when she was struck by Finnigan's automobile.

TWO INCIDENTS OF A NIGHT.

The capture of Sonny Dunn was a spectacular piece of work, which goes to the credit of the sheriff's office, and deserves the applause of the town. Encores will be much appreciated. The cool courage and devotion to duty shown by the deputies who walked into a tough joint and took a man like Dunn out sets a high mark. Deputies Giewuch, Hackland, Singer, and De Nora should be publicly commended.

That Sonny Dunn was at large and in Chicago paying a holiday visit to his friends is the sort of fact that makes the meek citizen wonder what the law amounts to and what he pays taxes for. But Sonny's case isn't unique. It's just a part of the loose system of law enforcement, one small leak in the leaky barrier that stands between the law abiding and the lawless. The crook with a pull can get away with almost anything almost any time, including murder.

The same issue of THE TRIBUNE which told of the capture of Dunn reported the death of a policeman, Officer John Mullen, who was fatally shot in the back as he was going into the Lincoln garden. The murderer had been drinking and grown quarrelsome. It is suspected he and his companion were planning to hold up the café when the trouble started.

In any case there was booze and a gun, and then there was a dead policeman.

Is there going to be a murderer on the trap door within a reasonable time?

Unfortunately that is by no means certain. It ought to be, but it is not. That is why the tough carries a gun and does not mind using it when he is out of temper. He knows—they all know—the man who shot this officer in the back has a fairly good chance to escape justice. He has the straw bond free escape, the various bypaths of pull up to the last step, and after conviction, if conviction befalls him, there may be commutation, and after that parole.

We do not say that this particular criminal has all or any of these advantages. It may be he is so obscure and inconsiderable in his world that he must walk the straight path to the gallows. But this must be proved. There is no overwhelming presumption against even a cowardly criminal caught red handed.

Bond jumping, gun toting, these are two interesting subjects, phases of the lax administration of law which afflicts this community. You've read our views on both on this page more than once, and you will read them again until the community decides that it is a disgrace to tolerate standards which would shame a mining town. Last year saw some advances in law enforcement and some awakening of public opinion. We believe this year is going to show a lot more of both, and if it does not it will be no fault of THE TRIBUNE's. The hammer on crime is not going to be thrown away.

JOBLESS SOLDIERS.

Two government post war enterprises which could have foreseen and which needed preparation have failed, as might have been expected. One was to demobilize the civilian army in Washington. The other was to see that demobilized soldiers did not walk the streets for lack of work.

The job of telling the civilian employees that the war is over and of emptying the swivel chairs will go over until the next administration. The clerical force is still fighting the war with Germany and is willing to fight it into the next generation. The consideration granted the patriots who fought the war on the Potomac is emphasized by the lack of consideration given the soldiers who fought it towards the Rhine. There may have been some employment work done by the government, but if it had been effective there would not be the reproach which comes frequently from jobless soldiers.

Ingratitude which does not protect a soldier in his job is the basest ingratitude which a nation can show. The men who formed the army lost the earnings which men who remained at home had during the war and the soldier who lost his job has a right to a bitter complaint. American civilians have forgotten the war rapidly and thoroughly. The jobless soldier still retains a recollection of it.

THE PASSING OF "COAL OIL JOHNNY."

Many an "old timer," and some not so old, will read of the death of "Coal Oil Johnny" with a shake of the head, a sigh for days that are gone, and a whimsical smile at the recollection of some anecdote of a gayer generation. "Coal Oil Johnny," with his $100 bills for cigar lighters, his $1,000 tips, and his other wild ways with money, did little for himself in life but something for his country. He contributed a definite trait to our composite American character, and helped to mark that character upon the consciousness of the world.

As the last of the wild spenders to flash for a final moment in the limelight which he adored and adored in his youth, he seems worthy of note. No doubt in the old days when he obtained half a million dollars almost over night in the oil business, and spent it in almost as short a time, "Coal Oil Johnny" was pointed out as the type of young man most to be avoided. His economics were undoubtedly bad, whatever his morals might have been. The facts have not changed but time has altered the influences involved.

He did mark a wild, gay, carefree period in American life which is at least a pleasantly romantic period. There were others in the same generation, and before it and after it, who did likewise. Their names, like "Coal Oil Johnny's," may not be recalled until they die, but the reckless generosity, the dramatic incidents, the dash and thrill and imagination stirring events of their careers are impressed on our minds and our characters.

It is such traits and memories of such stirring, if futile, events in life that help make a distinctive American character. We may not admire "Coal Oil Johnny," but we remember him, and on the whole we are glad he lived and gave a touch of color to life. And because as Americans we are thankful for this touch of color we show our kinship for "Coal Oil Johnny." We couldn't improve our credit at any bank with an endorsement of such goings-on, but deep in our hearts we are glad they have gone on and hope some day a sufficiently spectacular person may arise to command an interest equal to that commanded by "Coal Oil Johnny."

THE TARIFF AS A LOCAL ISSUE.

With hearings on tariff revision set to begin next Thursday, more than 500 letters and telegrams asking permission to be heard have already been received by the house committee on ways and means. Since opposition to high tariff is generally a party matter conducted largely through professional politicians, we assume that chiefly private interests are represented by these 500 requests, and that their purpose is to obtain heavy protective tariffs upon the particular commodity or line in which each individual deals.

If our assumption is correct, the magnitude and difficulties of the task before the committee are evident. A duty on peanut oil will be asked for certain sections of the south; a duty on lemons, raisins, and figs will be asked for California; a duty on cotton goods and shoes for New England; a duty on furniture for Grand Rapids; a duty on wheat for the middle west, and so on to every section and town in the country, until automobile manufacturers and rat trap manufacturers, alligator pear growers and wool growers are alike protected.

In other words, the effort will be, as has been remarked, to make the tariff a local issue. It cannot be safely done. If all the business men seeking protection are accommodated there will be no lower prices, no sound readjustment of business, no dealings with foreign nations, and no permanent prosperity. The entire country pays directly or indirectly for all tariffs levied at our ports of entry. Congress should remember that and much trouble will be avoided.

In general we favor protective tariffs. There is everything in their favor and little against them in the protection of infant industries such as the dye industry. There is little in their favor and much against them in the protection of such industries as the porcelain or chinaware industry. Lacking the fine clays of England and France, we will always be at a disadvantage, despite tariffs, in such manufacture, and in such cases the sooner we understand our disadvantages and cease to fight them the better. In general our best method of competition with foreign trade is through efficiency. Even our higher paid labor, unsupported by tariffs, has been successful at that in lines to which we are particularly adapted.

So we can revive industry and maintain prosperity without a high protective tariff wall on all commodities. Even more important, we can give Europe a chance to pay its debts with needed commodities. If we absolutely bar European goods we gain nothing and lose much. In such circumstances the tariff problem, always difficult and dangerous, becomes doubly so. We trust it will be handled for the good of the nation, regardless of any individual private interest.

EASY MONEY.

Syracuse, N. Y., wires the text for a brief sermon on easy money. W. F. Morgan, a resident of that city, finds himself heir to $210,000, representing principal and interest on a 10 percent note issued by the state of New Hampshire in 1774.

That ought to give a thrill to the owner of a $50 Liberty bond. It puts a fortune on the plane of savings account. It lets us look in at our little $50 end of the telescope and see the $210,000 view at the big end. A Liberty bond purchased now can provide for us at the same rate if we will take the trouble to compound the coupons. That may take out the romance, but it puts in the sermon.

Thrift means easy money. It means daily protection against suffering and need. It means competence and ease in old age. It means insurance against many of the hardest knocks of life. There are no arguments against it except absolute inability or unrestricted self-indulgence. There are a thousand arguments for it.

These days of unemployment may appear to be a poor time in which to preach thrift. On the contrary, they afford a striking illustration of its advisability. Those who have been thrifty in prosperity are not suffering now, even though idle. Those who have not been thrifty are suffering.

Those who have nothing must await better days to begin their thrift, but the vast majority of Americans are still at work and can begin now with the new year, if they have not already begun. The budget is advocated as one method worthy of adoption. It helps the habit of restraint and forethought in expenditures. It rules out nonessentials. It puts individual finance and economic life on an efficient basis. It is a guide post to thrift, and thrift makes $50 bonds grow into $210,000 inheritances.

Editorial of the Day

[Ohio State Journal.]

Quite naturally the members of the American Legion feel resentful over the consideration shown conscientious objectors by the war department. The last conscientious objector has been released from military restraint. Members of the last group released were those who declined to bear arms, who refused to engage in noncombatant service and flatly refused to give any service while in the military cantonment or the prison. Yet they were all released, the longest term any of the group served being about two years.

The apparent haste and eagerness to do something for these extreme pacifists could hardly escape the attention of the Legion, nor would there fail to be comparison made of the speed for the objectors with the delay in the help of the provisions of the law in the helpful agencies for the service men who have been incapacitated. The failure to make these helpful agencies effective is said to be caused by the lack of interest in the work by some of those in charge. That is an ugly accusation, but the long months of labor must at least lend color to it. There has been no good reason for the failure to make available the forms of relief provided by the government. It would have been far better had the efforts of the war department been centered in the helpful work for those who suffered in the war, rather than for those who were unwilling to be Americans and give service to the flag in time of national peril. There were 2,118,294 men inducted into the service; there were 450 tried and sentenced for failure to give service. Why forget the millions who served to show undeserved attention to the few score who would not serve?

MY LYRE IS OUT OF TUNE.
My lyre is out of tune, they say,
Because it never sings a lay
To tell how soon a woman fair
Can drive a lovely star to despair,
To tell of lovely starlets eyes
Or rubby lips that tantalize.
Because it does not sing of these,
They say my lyre will never please.

But why should I use borrowed strings,
And tune my lyre until it sings
Of those who give an empty glove
To compensate rejected love,
Of those who laugh when I reveal
The inner longings of my soul?
If it must learn to sing of these,
I fear my lyre will never please.

It sings of foamy-clouded skies,
Of care-free birds and butterflies;
It sings of rocks and bubbling brooks,
Of misty woods and silver dews;
It sings of youth an endless song,
Continuing the whole day long.
I love to hear it sing of these,
And care not whom it may not please.

ALBINISM.
An albino is one who is practically without pigment in certain places of his body. Davenport calls it extreme blondness, and yet there is no gradation between natural blondness and albinism. The most blond Scandinavian is very definitely different from an albino.

The place where the lack of pigment causes the greatest discomfort is the eyes. The normal eyeball is hung with a dark curtain called the iris. The layer lies next to the hard outer white layer called the sclerotic. The choroid is there for the purpose of preventing light from getting into the "dark chamber" of the eye in any quantity, except through the shutter hole in the iris. The iris is a thin, translucent, and the dark curtain choroid is revealed. In an albino the iris is missing, and the light must be changed. The iris is primarily moral and spiritual, and only secondarily physical.

LET HER KEEP ON PLAYING.
E. R. S. writes: "About a month ago my little girl 3 years old came from school with a severe cold. The doctor on examining her found her cold did not amount to anything, but while examining her chest he discovered that she had leakage of the heart. He thought she had been born with it. She is the picture of health and always has been. She puts on boxing gloves and boxes with the boys, jumps ropes, and runs and plays just like any normal child, and never complains. When about four months old she had pneumonia and when about 6 years old she had measles and at 7 she had influenza."

1. Could any of these diseases cause leakage of the heart?
2. She also has infection of the middle ear. The doctor said he thought it was of long standing and said the ear drum is perforated, and he wiped blood and pus out of the ear. He could not find anything wrong with her tonsils. What could cause the ear trouble?
3. I have heard that I could expect lots of trouble when she reaches the age of maturity with leakage of the heart. Is that true? Also that she has a heart that will wear out and that she will never live to be over 40. Is that true?
4. Her cheeks are always red. Does that show signs of health, or is it caused from condition of her heart?
5. Can it be cured?
6. What kind of exercise should she take? The doctor told me to let her jump, box rope, and rough it just as before. What do you think about it?"

REPLY.
1. The organic heart trouble could have been caused by either pneumonia, measles, or influenza, or it could be congenital.
2. Either of the diseases noted or by an ordinary sore throat.
3. If she lives properly her heart may never wear out, and she may live to be 100. A leaky heart must work harder than a sound one, but may survive the extra work for a long time.
4. It is a sign of health.
5. Not in the sense that the valve will stop leaking.

HIM DOWN!"

THEM'S UNKIND WORDS! FOREST CHIEFS IN CLASH

"Pay Roll Padding" Only One Little Charge.

BY OSCAR E. HEWITT.

The forest preserve commissioners started the new year yesterday with a session of imputations, insinuations, and accusations about padded pay rolls, blind pigs, exorbitant price for real estate, broken promise of a job for Bob Wilson, and secret preliminary meetings. The accusations lacked substance and in most instances were promptly and flatly denied.

Commissioner Goodnow concluded the session with a written statement questioning the legal right of the board to purchase the proposed 2,000 acres of the Skokie. He said that the reason advanced for its purchase ranged from the preservation of lands already acquired to "the preservation of the beautiful sunsets." He wanted enabling legislation before the purchase was made.

Pen Carroll, son of Commissioner Carroll, who was slated for removal as assistant forester, resigned. It was also on the program to displace Commissioner Robert McKinlay as chairman of the real estate committee with Commissioner Emmett Wheelan. That was accomplished by a vote of 11 to 4. The quartet being Commissioners McKim, Carroll, Goodnow, and Fitzgerald.

As soon as the session started Commissioner Carroll was on his feet with his son's resignation.

"I wish to state further," reads part of it, "that I am not inclined to hold any position of public trust and importance in which I may be expected to overlook any violations of the rules of the forest preserve or violations of the laws of the state."

Commissioner Carroll also said his son routed some blind pigs from the preserves which "was not agreeable to the president of the board."

Didn't Get the Checks.

"The only padded pay roll I know of was three or four men on a double pay roll authorized by your son," commented President Reinberg.

"The only pay roll matter was where two or three caretakers who had not worked were placed upon the pay roll," said Commissioner Goodnow. "Their employment had been authorized and pay checks were made out for them. It was then discovered they had not worked and they did not get the pay checks."

"That shows efficiency," commented Commissioner Miller. "I would like to know if any one got a check who didn't work?"

"No Bathrooms to Clean Up."

Did any one ever hear that Matt Everett ever won a corner? "He's an inspector general of the district and a relative of the president's," "Didn't you, Mr. President, promise Bob Wilson a job and then go back on your word?"

"We have no bathrooms to clean up," shot back Reinberg. "You and Bathroom Bob are a pretty good pair."

The board unanimously accepted the Carroll resignation and then came the appointment of the 1921 committee.

McKinlay Adds Fireworks.

"I have been removed as chairman of the real estate committee because I wouldn't eat out of the hand of the president," said Commissioner McKinlay. "On Oct. 18 last I blocked the purchase of 126 acres of land from the Chicago Heights Land association. That purchase was recommended by the board's real estate expert, Henry Krans, personal appointment of the president, at $1,000 an acre. I asked Commissioner Pearson, who lives in that district, what it was worth and he said $200 an acre, would be a good price."

"I said $200 for the twenty-six acres north of the road," put in Pearson.

"I don't remember the qualification," said McKinlay. "The average sale in that territory has not been above $400 an acre."

Attacks C. H. Wacker.

"The land has not been purchased," said Commissioner Miller.

McKinlay made an attack upon Charles H. Wacker, and took this final shot at Reinberg: "You're no man. You're only an excuse for one."

"It is an excellent thing for Chicago and surrounding territory that McKinlay was removed from the committee," commented Reinberg later.

BULLET STOPPED BY CORSET STAY; GIRL RECOVERING

Miss Louise Margaret Stock of 5702 Eberhart avenue is recovering at the Washington Park hospital from a bullet wound which, but for the lucky interference of a corset steel, probably would have proved fatal.

Miss Stock was in the drug store of D. T. Cropp at 311 East Sixty-ninth street when three holdup men dropped in to empty the cash register.

Cropp was too quick for them. He grabbed his revolver and began firing at them. The robbers returned the fire and one of the bullets struck Miss Stock over the heart. It glanced from a corset steel and inflicted only a flesh wound.

plaints filed with County Judge Ripheimer. It is argued that the proposed drainage plan is unnecessary, that the assessment of taxes for the project would be prohibitively high, and that it would be a flood menace to the Morton Grove district.

3,115,000 Visit Preserve.

More than 3,115,000 persons visited the forest preserve district during 1920, according to President Reinberg's report. This is nearly three times the amount of attendance the previous year. The highest attendance among the ten areas of the district was at Deer and Elk groves, where 240,000 visited.

Mr. Reinberg also said that he hoped the commissioners would soon be able to authorize the establishment of several Indian villages in the preserves.

"So successful was the Indian council's encampment at Deer Grove last summer that it not only will be made an annual affair, but we hope to establish Indian villages where the dwellers may sell their basket and bead handiwork," said Mr. Reinberg.

More Baseball Diamonds.

The message also stated that additional baseball diamonds and other facilities for sports will be provided this summer without incurring the original idea of keeping the preserves a place for the preservation of natural animal and plant life.

Credit to the citizen members of the plan committee for their work in the creation of the preserves was given by Mr. Reinberg.

GAY SPENDER IN CAFES ADMITS 200 BURGLARIES

Prised as Rich Man's Son;
$50,000 Found.

A burglar at night and the self-proclaimed son of a millionaire during the day, John McWerther McGrath, 20 year old, admitted to 200 burglaries in a confession made last night to the East Chicago avenue police. He admitted burglarizing more than 200 homes in the north side residential district in the last two years.

McGrath, maintaining a richly furnished apartment on the north side, was arrested by the police, as they hoped to effect the arrest of a woman accused of being a familiar figure at the Elmhurst Mill and Marigold gardens. He maintained women friends lavishly and tipped waiters liberally.

He was arrested by Detective Sergeant William Raul, Fred Schack and Timothy Daly in a pawn shop near Franklin street and Chicago avenue.

Get $50,000 Worth of Loot.
Acting on information given by McGrath, Capt. Dennis Malloy sent a squad to the burglar's apartment and found $50,000 worth of stolen goods.

McGrath said he had been in the city for fourteen months, most of that being stationed at the Great Lakes Naval Training station. While there, he said, he had managed to steal $25 daily from the several "cans." He was given a dishonorable discharge, he said, because he carried a revolver to Chicago and loaned it to a soldier, who shot a man in a holdup.

After his discharge he became a burglar, he said.

Some of His Victims.
Among the homes McGrath has confessed robbing are:

MR. L. R. SCHULHOF, 1211 Carmen avenue; $5,000 worth of valuables, $5,000 of which was later recovered.

MR. ROSE LEVY, 4949 Broadway; $300 in cash and $2,500 worth of clothing and jewelry.

NATHAN ROWENSTEIN, 6230 Winthrop avenue; $5,000.

BRUCE OSBURN, 811 Lakeside place; $2,000.

JAMES STUART, 811 Lakeside place; $1,000.

LOUIS ROSEN, 1404 South Albany avenue; $5,000.

Tells of School Honors.
McGrath said he took many scholarships and athletic honors while a student at Joliet.

"You cops have treated me right and have not manhandled me, so I decided to confess and make it easier for you," he said.

Capt. Malloy has addressed a letter to Chief of Police Charles C. Fitzmorris commending the officers who made the arrest.

Prosecutor Lowery Quits to Enter Law Practice
Assistant State's Attorney John M. Lowery, one of the members of Mr. Hoynes' staff, has handed his resignation to State's Attorney Crowe. He will enter the general practice of law with Philip McGrath in suite 1106 Cunard building at 140 North Dearborn street.

Mr. Lowery during his four years as assistant state's attorney was active on bank robbery cases and was instrumental in securing thirty-four convictions out of thirty-five bank robbery cases in Chicago and the county. He also procured nine convictions for murder, three of them being cases in which the death penalty was inflicted.

Mr. Lowery has been identified with semiprofessional baseball in this city for the last twenty years, being the former owner of the Mutuals and West Sides and now the owner of the Norwalks, the present city champions.

AUTO SMASHUP MAY RUIN 'GOOD LUCK' OF SHEEHY

Odd Facts in Pearl Robbery Bared.

The little slip-up by which John Sheehy allowed himself to be found by the police Sunday morning in the vicinity of a stolen automobile which had just been wrecked may terminate the "good luck" which he and his bosom companion, Charles "Buster" Brown, have enjoyed for some time.

His arrest recalled the fact that he was involved in a pearl necklace robbery more than a year ago but had not been held. Inquiry revealed several singularities in the Criminal docket.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Marston were returning from the opera on Dec. 4, 1919. In front of their home at 1210 Astor street two automobile bandits, which was valued at $2,000, and several trinkets.

Two weeks later Sergts. Sack and Dalley of the Chicago avenue station stopped Sheehy and Brown emerging from McGovern Bros' cafe at Clark and Erie streets at 3 o'clock in the morning. They tried to shoot the policemen, the latter said. Mrs. Marston's pearl necklace was found tucked in one of the automobile pockets.

The Criminal court index listed an indictment for robbery against the pair, numbered 19711. The docket showed the pair had given bond. Then came the order: "By order of court, off call."

The indictment charges Sheehy and Brown with the theft of the trinkets, but does not mention the $2,000 necklace.

Told Jurors About Necklace.
"Why, surely, both my wife and I told the grand jury about the necklace," Mr. Marston said last night. "Strange that they did not include it in the indictment! We identified them, too. And I was wondering if it wasn't about time they were being tried."

Mr. Marston, who is a well known attorney, also was puzzled about the order: "Off call."

That signifies that the trial would not be brought up unless the state's attorney takes the initiative. But why should that be?

PARK COP NEAR DEATH; AUTOIST AND WIFE HELD

South Park Policeman Martin Collins of 519 West Forty-fifth place is near death at German Deaconess' hospital and David Stephenson Groh, 7093 Chapin avenue, head of the Groh Detective agency, is locked up at the Englewood station charged with having crushed the policeman when the latter tried to arrest him in his automobile Sunday night. Mrs. Groh also was held.

Witnesses declared Groh drove against another machine and crushed Collins between the two cars at Garfield boulevard and Ashland avenue.

The chief objection to the plan is that it tends to make one man do the work which now is being performed by two. The union members admit it can be adopted only in certain sections of the city, where smaller cars can serve a neighborhood's needs. However,

SURFACE LINES' UNION FIGHTS 1 MAN CAR PLAN

Fear Cut in Jobs as Well as Wages.

The one man car plan, which has been discussed as a means of reducing operating expenses for the Chicago Surface lines—and ultimately faces—hit a bumper yesterday.

Opposition to the one man car has developed in Local 241, the street car employees' union. William Quinan, president of the union, at a meeting in Car Men's hall, outlined his objections to the one man car plan. He found plenty of followers among the rank and file.

Would Cut Number of Men.
The chief objection to the plan is that it tends to make one man do the work which now is being performed by two. The union members admit it can be adopted only in certain sections of the city, where smaller cars can serve a neighborhood's needs. However, they say the introduction of the one man car would enable the Surface lines management to dispense with the services of a large part of the present operating force by the general use of the one man car in outlying districts.

Might Reduce Wages.
The laying off of many street car employees, the union chiefs point out, would create a surplus of trained street car operatives, which would mean competition for jobs with inevitable reduction in wages.

She added that she would have been re-elected but for the fact that the state was redistricted.

GROWERS FIGHT 50 PER CENT CUT ON THEIR TOBACCO

Take 113,000 Pounds Out of Kentucky Sales.

Lexington, Ky., Jan. 3.—With about 12,000 persons present, the opening of the tobacco sales in the loose leaf market today here was marked by withdrawal of 113,000 pounds, 24 percent of the tobacco offered, because the bids were about 50 per cent lower than last year.

In spite of this 412,305 pounds were sold at an average price of $20.44 per 100 pounds compared with an average of $16 last season, and an average of $24 for the opening day of that period. One result of the cut in prices was a threatened split in the Burley Tobacco Growers' association, recently organized. The cut caused the forming of the Burley Tobacco Marketing company, a co-operative concern, which is to be incorporated tomorrow.

So disturbed were the growers that they discussed suspension of the sales at this market, the largest of its kind in the world. At the offices of the association it was said sentiment was strongly in favor of not growing any burley tobacco for next year.

At the sales today were growers from Connecticut, Indiana, Ohio, Missouri, West Virginia, and Tennessee.

Recruiting for the Navy Suspended Temporarily

Washington, D. C., Jan. 3.—Recruiting for the navy has been suspended temporarily, it was learned at the navy department tonight. All new enlistments have been prohibited and only reenlistments of men now in the service are authorized. It was said at the department that the strength of 132,000 men reached several days ago was the maximum possible under the appropriation of congress. If the figure falls much below that mark recruiting will be resumed, it was added.

39 Offer to Serve on Grand Jury; 23 Picked

Thirty-nine citizens yesterday signified their willingness to serve on the January grand jury to do their bit toward putting to a stop the present crime wave. Chief Justice Charles A. McDonald could only permit twenty-three to serve. He complimented all on their attitude. He urged them to investigate resorts and roadhouses outside of the city, "which apparently are running wild and are the breeding places of crime."

If Petro- leum Were Wiped Out Today

IF petroleum were wiped out today, factories would close their doors, agricultural machinery could no longer be made or operated, food could be raised only by primitive methods, and the transportation of food would be confined to horse power and water, for railroads could no longer run their trains, and before any adjustment could be made our great urban population would literally be starved to death.

The prosperity of all industrial nations is based upon petroleum.

The peak from which floats the flag that symbolizes the prosperity of the United States arises from a basic foundation of crude oil.

The underlying foundation of this prosperity is lubricating oil, for without this essential product of petroleum, the machinery of the world would stop and the world's reserve of lubricating oils, though vast in volume, would last but a few weeks at our present rate of consumption.

The next essential factor is kerosene and gasoline, for without the first, one half of the population of the world would be without light at night, and without the second, all types of internal combustion engines would be useless, and the automobile, tractor, truck, marine and aviation engine would be mere curiosities.

If lubricating oil, kerosene, and gasoline were available, but the hundreds of by-products made from the residue of petroleum were wiped out, many industries would be closed and unemployment would be general, for in nearly every industry one or more of these by-products are necessary in the manufacturing processes.

Thus is visualized by an extreme presentation—purely imaginative—of what might happen if petroleum, or any of its major derivatives, were wiped out over night. Also it shows the importance of the work the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is doing in helping supply one of the basic, economic needs of the nation, and emphasizes the importance of the service the Company renders in promoting the comfort, health, and happiness of the individual citizen.

Directoire—or Mòyen Àge?

Tailored trimness—or filmy laces? Bouffant draperies—or svelte lines? Conventionally modest, or just a wee bit daring like this model on the right? Let personal inclination be your guide, for the January Harper's Bazar brings alluring innovations for every type—and preference—in every gown for every time of day or evening.

"BACK to the Mòyen Àge and the days of the Directoire!" commands Paris,—with the result that Lanvin, Poiret, Molyneux, Martial et Armand and many other French houses have discovered exquisite and unthought of ways to interpret the order. Witness, on the right, what appears at first glance to be the most conservative of green velvet dinner gowns,—that is, till one discovers a bodice slashed just a wee bit daringly open to the waist, two regal trains that are really a slit panel, and that unmistakable French touch—an uneven skirt. Wouldn't you pick it out anywhere for a Molyneux creation? And it is only one of the 92 Paris models waiting for you in the January HARPER'S BAZAR.

THE PALM BEACH ISSUE OF

Harper's Bazar

FASHIONS FOR THE SOUTH.
A complete Southern wardrobe by Steinhilber! And still another one by Tapp! Truly you have never seen so exquisite a collection of sports things, tea gowns, beach costumes, wraps, hats and accessories. Even if you have not thought of a Southern trip you must see these fore-runners of the Spring mode in the January HARPER'S BAZAR.

38 EVENING GOWNS—each with its own special personality to match yours. Some with lines slender and clinging,—some joyously bouffant,—some of satin—some of velvet—but all indisputably French and distinctive. Among them too, Delvina's Gowns, designed by Poiret and Patou. Don't risk another evening gown till you see the January HARPER'S BAZAR.

38 DAYTIME, AFTERNOON AND DINNER FROCKS to explode the old theory that there's nothing new under the sun. Black velvet and scarlet flannel, for instance, sponsored by Poiret,—or a frock of sleek streamers—Jenny's spiral skirt, or the way Martial et Armande uses gazelle! New ideas of every sort in the January HARPER'S BAZAR.

TOGS FOR CHILDREN. Twelve adorable costumes by Steinmetz to solve your youthful fashion problems. Frocks for play or dress, wee blouses and jumpers, warm wraps and everything to fit out those important small persons. And do you know the very smartest material for children's clothes? Miss Steinmetz tells you in the January HARPER'S BAZAR.

NEW WOE SHINES FROM DE VONEY'S RING FOR BUNNY

Wife Asks More Alimony;
Cites Gift to Girl.

Add another page to the book that tells of the affairs of the heart which have made life for John B. De Voney seem a steady progression towards— and retrogression from—the classic "I love you."

This time the wealthy realty operator is engaged in a court battle over alimony with his divorced wife, Mrs. Margaret De Voney, daughter of William D. McGrath of the city controller's office.

Several years ago, speaking before the Women's Association of Commerce, De Voney said, in effect: "You can't trust women. They won't keep their promises." Soon afterwards Mrs. De Voney obtained a divorce and asked a month alimony on a charge of desertion.

Ethel.

Next Miss Ethel Landwer had De Voney arrested. She said he had asked her to marry him so many times she had forgotten the number. He answered her so frequently she compared to the police. De Voney swore out two warrants against men who he averred "beat him up" and threw him out of the office where Miss Landwer worked.

Then he began filing alienation suits, against Roy B. Whitman, a discharged lieutenant, asked $50,000 damages. Another named the girl's father, Dr. Frederick W. Landwer, Mrs. Landwer, and other relatives of Miss Landwer. He also sued the girl for $10,000 damages.

Bunny.

Then Miss Bunny Walker, pretty 18-year-old stenographer, was sued for $200 by De Voney, who sought to recover a diamond ring. Bunny told of his courtship.

"I thought he was a wonderful man. He was so attentive. He telephoned me one day and said, 'Dearie, I'm sending the limousine over. I want you to go down and buy a diamond ring.' Of course I bought it."

Miss Walker's testimony is contained in the report of Master in Chancery Michael Maher, which was given to Judge Lewis yesterday for review. The master decided Mrs. De Voney was entitled to an increase in alimony and set $150 a month.

After reading the transcript of testimony, including Miss Walker's story of the ring, Judge Lewis will decide whether De Voney is "spending his money lavishly on women, as charged, and whether his income warrants the $150 alimony."

IN WHICH TRUE LOVE REVIVES AGE OF MIRACLES

Can Girl Elope and Yet
Remain at Home?

Sometimes you have to strive for what you want, and again you don't. Frimance:

Miss Elsa Goosmann of 2635 Burling street went to Waukegan yesterday to make sure that she could be married to Jacob J. Reiberg of 2150 North Halsted street, without interruption. Miss Audrie Goulding of Oak Park merely stayed at home. But from Crown Point, Ind., came the announcement that Miss Goulding had been married there to John B. Polesin, a salesman. And Miss Goulding says she doesn't know anything about it.

Four Times and Out.

On the other hand, Miss Goosmann and Mr. Reiberg have tried four times to get married, but every time something has prevented. Miss Goulding has never tried so far, but in October, when Miss Goosmann and Mr. Reiberg appeared in Waukegan they had a Cook county marriage license and just managed to get to the Lake county marriage clerk's office before he went home. Then they were married.

Add Insult to Injury.

Miss Goulding, according to the telegram from Crown Point, "was a divorcee." Somebody thereby added insult to injury and Dad Goulding promised to make it hot for the joker when he finds him, because his daughter was home all day yesterday, he says.

Dad Goosmann may have something to say, too, because his objections had been— But why spoil the party?

At St. Louis—Fatey Hannagan drew with Ashton Douglas (10).
At Memphis—Gene Delmont beat Eddie Carbone (18).

New York, Jan. 3.—Seventeen states have lined up behind the move for a national system of boxing control, by appointing delegates to attend the sessions, which will be held here, starting Jan. 10, with the purpose of carrying out a workmanlike national or international organization.

A title has been tentatively selected and will be offered, among other things, for the approval of the delegates. The name, National board of boxing control, has been chosen.

The backers state that, besides the seven states already with accredited representatives, eight more are expected to take action.

Plans to put the machinery under way include a luncheon to the delegates, after which the state delegates will go into an executive meeting at the International Sporting club, at which a temporary chairman and secretary will be selected, and committees on constitution and by-laws formed.

Program Before Delegates.
Among the first things to be put before the body for an expression, or for an official commitment, are the following suggestions, which seem to represent the common opinion of various state delegates.

Reduction of purses and admission charges.

Requirements that champions defend their titles within a stipulated time or forfeit their belts.

Agreement between states providing for acceptance of disbursement or disciplinary action taken by the national board of control as binding on state boards.

Some provision for revenue to accrue to the national board from state boards or individual clubs.

SOUTH CAROLINA—O. Van Meter, University of South Carolina.
TENNESSEE—Daniel E. McGugin, Nashville.
WEST VIRGINIA—Adm. Louis A. Carr, Charleston.
WISCONSIN—Walter H. Linger, chairman state athletic commission.

The following states are expected to appoint delegates before Jan. 10: California, Colorado, Florida, Maine, Missouri, Oregon, Rhode Island, and Washington.

DEMPSEY SUED BY NEGRO FOR ALLEGED DEBTS

Salt Lake City, Utah, Jan. 6.—Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight pugilist, was made defendant in the District court today in an action filed by J. F. Burns, a negro, in which it is alleged that Dempsey has failed to pay Burns for special services performed between Jan. 10 and March 15, 1920, amounting to $700.

It also is alleged that Burns loaned Dempsey $2,500 between those same dates, and a third allegation is that the plaintiff provided the pugilist with automobile and taxicab service during those dates to the value of $300, for which he says he had received no compensation.

Dempsey and his manager, Jack Kearns, were served with papers in the case when in Salt Lake recently.

Mickey Dillon Knocks Out Red Watson in One Round

New Orleans, La., Jan. 3.—[Special.]—Fighting like a Trojan when he seemed beaten, Mickey Dillon of Philadelphia knocked out Red Watson of New Orleans in the first round of a fifteen round bout tonight at the new Olympic club.

Watson had the better of the fight up to the knockout, he rushed Dillon around the ring and had him in a bad way. When Watson stepped back to land a blow Dillon clipped him on the jaw and Watson went down and out.

New England's Feather Champ Defeats Reagan

Boston, Mass., Jan. 3.—[Special.]—Bobby Joseph, New England featherweight champion, defended his title successfully in a twelve round bout against Tommy Reagan, the fast East Boston challenger, before the Carlysle club tonight. Joseph won by a substantial margin.

WITH THE HOCKEY TEAMS.
Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Jan. 3.—The Canadian Soo hockey team defeated the American Soo, 1 to 0, in the opening game of the American Amateur Hockey association scheduled tonight.

GASOLINE ALLEY—MOVIES AREN'T ALL ACTING

FREEDMAN AND WHITE SIGN FOR TEN ROUNDS OF WALLOPING JAN. 14

BY RAY PEARSON.

We announce this morning that the battle for the Ghetto championship of Chicago is on.

Charles White and William H. Rocap will hop at each other in the ring at Kenosha on the evening of Jan. 14. Both attached their signatures to sets of articles stuck under their noses by Promoter Bill Frazier last night.

White gets a flat guarantee of $3,500. Freedman takes a big gamble, for he signed articles stating that he does not draw a penny until after $5,000 is taken in at the gate with the 5 per cent deducted. Then he splits whatever is taken over that amount with the promoter on a 50-50 basis.

It looked much like another bloomer early in the matchmaking proceeding yesterday, with White the stumbling block. Promoter Frazier came into town early in the afternoon on info that White was ready to sign. The promoter waited around until 6 o'clock, when he was called to the office of White's lawyer. Then ensued a couple hours of wrangling. White demanded Freedman post a $500 forfeit that he would not weigh over 135 pounds at 3 o'clock the day of the fight. White won the argument, then signed.

Mitchell Boys on Way East.
The Mitchell boys, Richie, Pinky, and Manager Billy of Milwaukee, stopped here for a few hours yesterday, then jumped a train for New York, where they are billed as headliners this month. Pink is first to go into action, meeting Willie Jackson Friday night. On Jan. 14 Richie steps against Champion Benny Leonard.

There were rumors about the loop yesterday that Pal Moore, Memphis bantamweight, intends to split with his manager, Tommy Walsh. Seems Moore is peeved because he didn't get the chance to beat Pete Herman out of his title.

RIFLE CLUB ELECTION FRIDAY.
The annual meeting and election of officers of the Chicago Rifle club will be held at the club room, 3405 West North avenue, next Friday evening.

Woods and Waters LARRY JOHNS

"BURNING OUT" MARSHES.

"E" LKTON writes: "Have been shooting for over thirty years, and for the last sixteen, excepting 1913, have averaged ten or more days each fall after ducks on the Mississippi Illinois rivers, the last eleven years of the latter."

"Until this season I have always hunted in open territory where there were no clubs or baited grounds in the vicinity, and several thousand acres were open to all shooters, and although both the Mississippi and Illinois places were ideal natural feeding grounds for mallards and sprigs, I have killed a small percentage of these two varieties, except the fall of 1911, when the water was high."

"This year I made a change and spent six days at another point on the Illinois, where most of the ground is owned or leased by clubs, and although the open territory was small, only room for five or six blinds, there were more mallards and sprigs killed in this limited space in the six days than there have been during any whole season at either of the other places that contained twenty or more times as much territory, all open and better natural duck grounds."

"Now, what is the answer? Why do they have far better shooting on the small places near the clubs when the same amount of shooting I saw in the first three days in the limited space would have burnt out the larger, open grounds for the rest of the season?"

"In my opinion, while the bait has something to do with it, another and more important reason is that the ducks have a place and time to feed undisturbed on the preserved grounds. I refer to the larger and better managed clubs, where they do not shoot until 8 or 9:30 a. m., which gives the birds several hours to feed. Also, most of the clubs do not shoot every day."

RICKARD, TESTIFYING IN ROCAP SUIT, DENIES CHARGE OF SLANDER

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 3.—George I. ("Tex") Rickard, boxing promoter, appeared as a witness in his own behalf today at the opening of the trial of the suit brought against him by William H. Rocap, a sporting writer and fight referee, who charged that Rickard slandered him.

The plaintiff alleged that after the Dempsey fight in Toledo July 4, 1919, Rickard said that Rocap had tried to "hold him up for a thousand dollars," and was a "blackmailer."

Rickard denied recollection of having made such a statement.

Anthony J. Drexl Biddle, former chairman of the national boxing commission, and Samuel Vaulcan, president of the Baldwin Locomotive works, testified that they believed the Willard-Dempsey fight was "on the level."

Rocap denied on the stand that he had written a story insinuating that the contest was a fake.

Two women were among the jurors called for selection in the case, but both were challenged.

FARM and HOME by Frank Ridgway

CROP specialists are becoming alarmed at the way farmers are neglecting the legume in their cropping system.

The producer has been apparently too much interested in the growing of grain crops that would bring quick returns, and in so doing has decreased the productivity of his soil, and will have to lose in the end.

Students in agriculture are urging farmers to pay more attention to the management of their land and rotation of crops.

J. C. Hackleman of the University of Illinois, one of the foremost crop specialists in the middle west, says that farming systems and crop rotations in Illinois are more out of their proper alignment now than they have been in recent years.

The crop survey recently made in Vermilion county showed that the cultivable land in legumes is only an average of 9 per cent, a condition probably typical of many other counties in this state. Alfalfa and soy beans made up only a small part of the legume crop; most of it was red clover.

A remedy suggested is the liberal use of limestone and rock phosphate, and legumes in sufficient acreage to properly balance the cropping system. Clover or some other legume should appear in the rotation of at least once in four years.

PLAN SERIES TO SETTLE PRO ICE SKATING HONORS

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 3.—Everett McGowan of St. Paul, international skating champion, has agreed to terms for a race here with Norval Haptie in the first of what is planned to be a series for the world's championship. McGowan has decided to turn pro, and eventually hopes to meet Oscar Mathieson, Norwegian speed king.

If Haptie, who is now in Philadelphia, accepts, he will meet McGowan here Jan. 9 and 11 in six events—220 yard dash, 100 yard dash, half mile, mile, two miles, and three miles.

The winner under the present plan would be matched with Ed Lang of O'Sickey, and Art Staff. The two would meet Bobby McLean.

Orange Shoes Miss $50.
Having thus preambled, let us now venture into the "black belt" of Chicago in quest of a winner. Stepping down the "L" stairs at Thirty-first street, the reporter observed a tall Negro with shoes of brilliant orange. He was watching a small crowd being disintegrated by a pair of cops.

"What's all the fuss about?" asked the politeness seeker.
"Fuss?" was the gruff reply. At length the questioner consented to answer an old woman had been caught loitering. He would divulge, no more.

To State street strayed the reporter. There he made good of a lanky young individual of the "northern" type.
"Now, I don't know no Jack Washington," said this person gruffly.

Wandering south to the corner of State and Thirty-first, streets—the heart of the "black belt"—the politeness seeker noted a colored copper swagger over to the patrol box and give his name.

"Pardon me, sir. Would you mind telling me what you were doing just then?" asked the reporter. A glance, slightly contemptuous, appraised the scribble, then:

"Why, I have to pull the box every hour. How long have you been in Chicago?"

"Courtesy Adorns a Beggar.
The first episode occurred at the foot of the "L" steps at Thirty-first street. Leaning against the wall, partially supported by a crutch, was a beggar.

"Say," asked the reporter, "doesn't Jack Johnson live down here some where?"

"Deed not, sir. Jack Johnson done been in the federal pen—down at Leavenworth, sir."

"Oh, is that so? When he gets out will he come back here?"

"Ah couldn't be certain, sir, but Ah 'spects so."

Turning away without dropping any aim in the beggar's hat, the politeness seeker threw a thank-you over his shoulder.

"You welcome, sir," came the courteous response.

Hospitality in Rags.
Walking west, the reporter came upon a little coal fire blazing in the gutter at Wabash avenue and Thirty-fifth street. Beside it was a small colored boy attending a news stand.

Coal black was his face and glistening were his eyes. A ragged overcoat covered the diminutive gentleman and the laps of his cap hung low about his face.

"Pretty nice fire," observed the politeness seeker, holding his hands close to the coals. The boy grinned.

"Give me a penny, mister, if you want to warm your hands."

"All right, sir."

The coin, immediately forthcoming, caused consternation in the hospitable breast of the boy. Quickly he handed

Joseph Cawthorn in "The Half Moon"

BY PERCY HAMMOND.

MR. CAWTHORN grows old upon the stage, brightly and with serenity. In "The Half Moon" he has become adult enough to be parent to Mr. Douglas Stevenson, the gentle and comely baritone, who represents a returned overseasman. Yet the years of his rôle interfere not at all with his robust joviality, and he wags his yellow curls, grins his mischievous grin, and cracks his caddy jokes as vigorously as he did when he was playing youthful Bavarian with Miss Julia Sanderson.

The drama which finds employment with Mr. Cawthorn this year is sirupy and adolescent in story; ripe in the maturity of its humor, and pleasantly striking, original and tuneful in its music. It will take but a line or two to give an idea of its sentimental naïveté. Charlie and Bradford, while engaged in combat with the central empires, met and became enamored of Grace and Mary. Grace and Mary were fifty New England vivandieres, who added the pleasure of their presence upon the perilous edge of battle to the stern joys which warriors are said to feel. But Grace's veins were lit with the azure of Massachusetts's patriotism; and she turned her Brooklyn eye upon Charlie's father (Mr. Cawthorn), who was an eminent, though gauche purveyor of dairy products in the South Water street of Boston.

The above, of course, is but a mere hinting of the fable's contents. While "The Half Moon" proves that a knack in cheese and poultry is as much if not more than a coronet, and that a simple faith in cold storage may equal if not exceed the possession of Pilgrim blood, it also has its incidental frivolities.

"Shall we have a game of billiards?" says one of the Boston Adames to Mr. Cawthorn. "I'm sorry," Mr. Cawthorn replies, "but I didn't bring my clubs." Mr. Cawthorn, coached by the very funny Charles Lawrence as his garage man, strives to achieve some erudition. He investigates his cyclopedia and commits to memory its information about Guatemala, repeating it at every opportunity. "Are the Indians of Guatemala 'black'?" he asks. "No, they are not," answers Mr. Cawthorn, and we revel in the retort, though I suspect some of us say, "Mr. Cawthorn, you're a wonder, why, when I get to heaven, I'll ask King Solomon why he had so many wives." "But what if King Solomon is not in heaven?" suggests the Adames. "Then you ask him," replies Mr. Cawthorn, and the result is an outburst.

We laughed at that almost as much as we laughed at Mr. Cawthorn's exit speech in the second act, when he disclaimed the disobedient Charlie. "It is my ultimatum," he cried as the curtain fell. Causing encore.
It is lucky that Victor Jacob's score is so good since the singing of it is so otherwise. Neither of the prima donnas, Miss Marie Flynn nor Miss May Thompson, is expert at song, but both of them have a certain minor charm, and they can dance, particularly Miss Thompson. A joy of the performance is Mr. Oscar Shaw, who as well as any youth I know can sing a song, tell a joke, and say "I love you," to an ingenue. Mr. Shaw has the polite poise of assurance, and he believes that the romances as "The Half Moon" should be for the young to be played with thumb to nose.

The cast of "The Half Moon" has been depleted by the indifference of Mr. Santley and Miss Sawyer to the middle west, but the production last night at the Lillian. Some good and hopeless acting was done by Miss Edna May Oliver, an English player, I suspect, who as a homely widow was uncompromising and effective. The book is by William Le Baron, the production by Mr. Dillingham, who heretofore in Chicago has been the most scrupulous of the producers.

Seize Jeweler as Buyer of 3 Stolen Diamonds

Julius J. Reingold, a jeweler, residing at 2128 South Harding avenue, was arrested last night by Detective Sergeants Smith, Welling, Eschig, and Piper on a charge of receiving stolen property after it was discovered he recently had purchased three unset diamonds worth $1,000, said to be part of the loot obtained in the $28,000 robbery of Samuel Rubenstein's jewelry store, 719 South Crawford avenue, on the morning of Dec. 15.

Grandma Gets the Credit.
Having thus been welcomed to the sunny gutter hearth, the reporter proceeded to ply him with questions. Quick and courteous were the answers, and invariably suffixed with "sir."

"My grandma told me Ah must always say 'Yes, sir,' an 'Yes, ma'am,' an 'No, sir,' an 'No, ma'am,' an 'If you please,' and 'Thank you,'" said the boy.

At that instant grandma herself appeared at the curb. Paul, she explained—his full name is Paul Raymond Johnson, and he is 6 years old—was born over on Federal street and was raised by her.

"Yes, sir, indeed, Ah raised Paul," she said. "He was brought up in Sunday school. Lots of people say politeness is back date, but it ain't."

She told how a court had awarded her the custody of her daughter's child, including Paul.

"What would Paul do if he had a boy?" asked the reporter. "Somewhat startled, the old granny replied that she would be sent back to school. Paul got the $50.

VACCINATE 150 AT LOOP HOTEL; SMALLPOX CASE

East Chicago Aldermen Row Over Disease.

Health department physicians were assigned to vaccinate 150 employees of a downtown hotel yesterday following the removal to the isolation hospital of a chambermaid afflicted with smallpox in the seventh day of development. Bessie Hyatt, 50 years old, is the patient. The disease was said by health department authorities to be in a highly contagious stage. Many guests of the hotel are expected to be vaccinated as a precautionary measure.

River Forest, a suburb immediately west of Chicago, reported three new cases of smallpox during the day.

Row at East Chicago.
Nightfall was narrowly averted at a meeting of the East Chicago city council over a resolution to appropriate $50,000 to combat the smallpox epidemic in that city. It was submitted by Dr. J. A. Torgerson, secretary of the board of health.

All but one of the twelve councilmen favored the appropriation. Ald. Paul Myslwy, of 4947 Northcote avenue, in the Second ward, opposed it. The ward comprises the south side, now under quarantine, in which the majority of the cases have been discovered.

"I don't believe it's smallpox," said Myslwy. "I think it's chicken pox. I think it's a political move on the part of some physicians to get some money."

There was a long silence in the council chamber, which was crowded. Then Ald. Stanislaw Raczewski walked over to Myslwy's chair and said:

"You don't know what you're talking about. You're not for the welfare of the community."

"I know what I'm doing," Myslwy replied.

Makes Ejectment Threat.
"No you don't, and you ought to be thrown out of the council chamber," replied Myslwy.

Other aldermen interceded. Myslwy left.

Under the East Chicago charter a resolution, when the vote is unanimous, must pass three readings. The appropriation resolution passed two readings, the vote being 11 to 1 for its adoption. The third reading cannot be held until another meeting, which is scheduled for Jan. 17.

The aldermen said they probably would call a meeting with forty-eight hours.

Only twelve new cases were reported in the city during the day.

Fight Oak Park Vaccination.
War against enforced vaccination of Oak Park school children was declared when about 300 parents met in the village hall there and unanimously voted to fight the order that every school child be vaccinated, recently issued by Dr. Frank S. Nowing, health commissioner. It is possible several thousand Oak Park children will not be admitted today to the public schools because of failure to comply with the order. There are about thirty cases of smallpox in the village according to the health authorities.

Freeman F. Hurd of 135 North Harvard avenue opened the meeting by reading two letters he had sent to Dr. Needham, challenging him to public debate on vaccination.

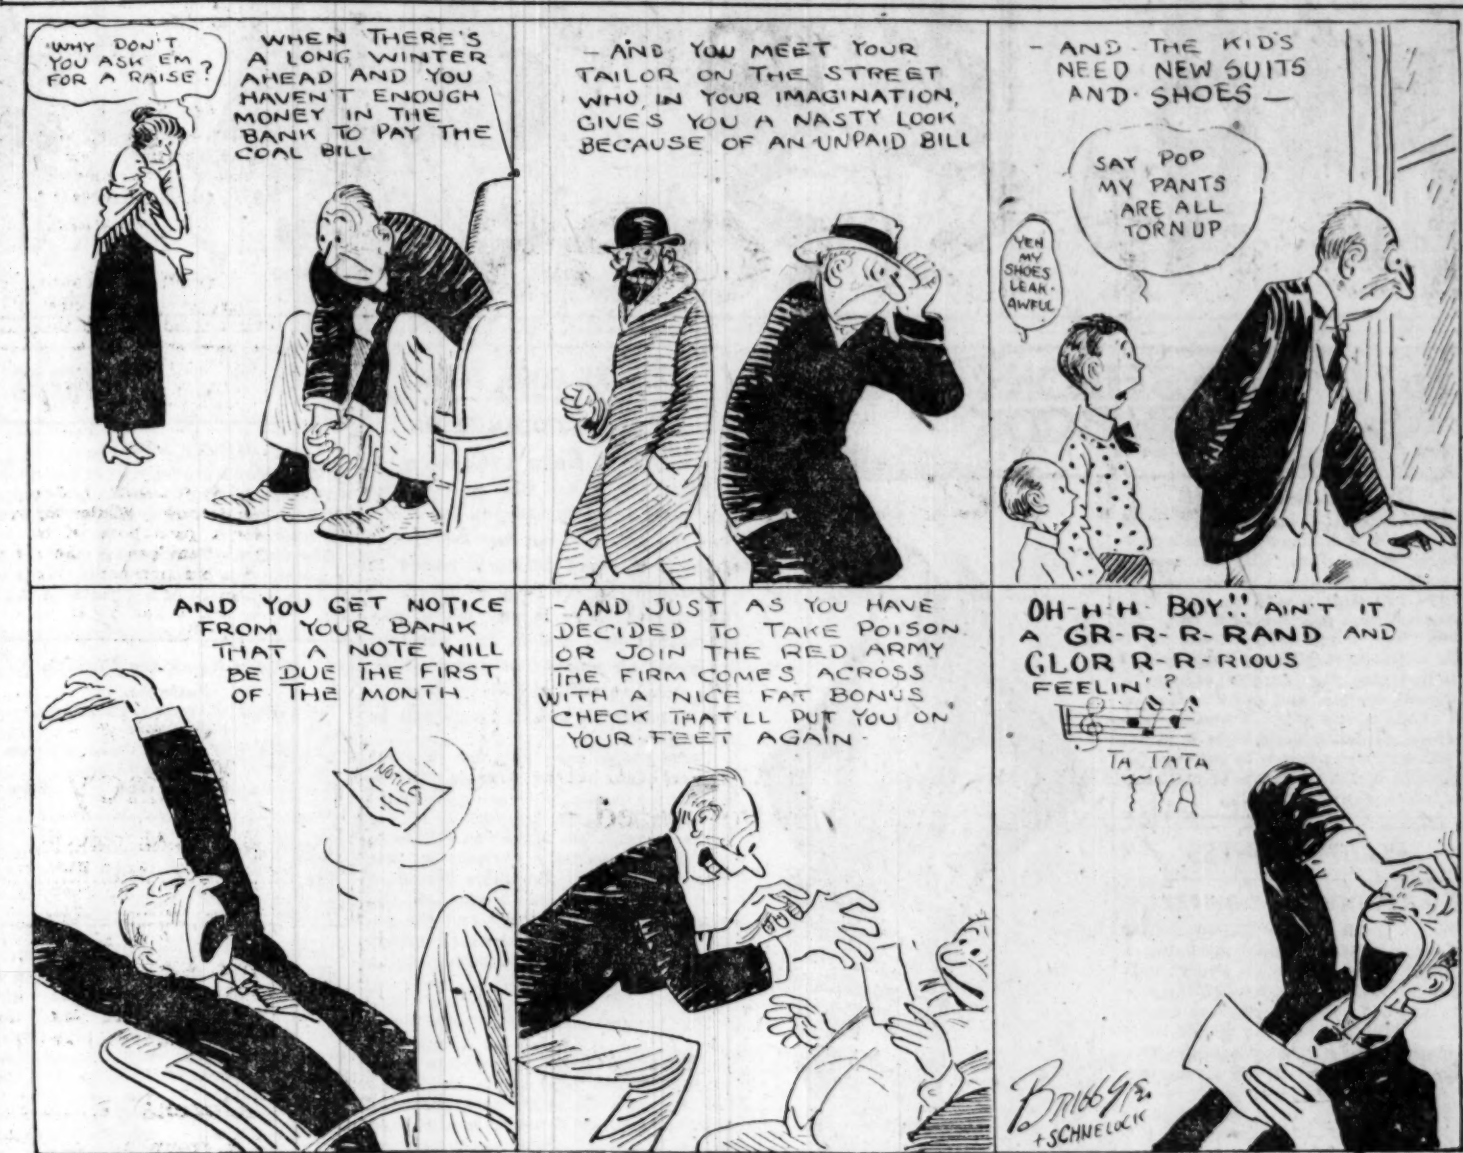

P. J. Vies suggested that the meeting take steps to restrain the board from enforcing the order. Attorney Frederick Bangs of Chicago, called on the phone, advised against an injunction, but suggested a campaign of public opinion.

Needham to Enforce Edict.
Dr. Needham was not present at the meeting, but when told of its action said: "I am going to enforce the state regulations; no child will be admitted to any public or parochial school until he or she has been vaccinated."

Seabee Must Pay Ex-Wife
$1,475 or Face Contempt.
Judge Sabath yesterday ordered Roy S. Seabee to pay $1,475 within thirty days to his divorced wife, Mrs. Grace Seabee Harger, or face jail for contempt of court. The money is due for the support of his daughter, Sylvia Seabee, a son of a former owner of the old Saratoga hotel. He said he had lost $15,000 recently in a moving picture venture.

Deserted by Bride, Fined
$50 on Installment Plan.
Marvin Hoffman of Holland, Mich., arrested Thursday on a charge of shoplifting and whose bride of a day disappeared from their rooms in the Hotel Morrison, was fined $50, payable on the installment plan. The bride was resighted before Judge Hugh R. Stewart.

AIN'T IT A GRAND AND GLORIOUS FEELIN'?

The Inquiring Reporter Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

Today's Question.
Do you prefer this weather to real cold winter weather?

Where Asked.

La Salle and Monroe streets.

The Answers.

Miss L. E. McCormick, 1424 East Sixty-first place, secretary—This weather is most delightful and pleasing. It is very unusual and the change is appreciated by everyone. I do not care much for real cold weather, but we have no kick coming this winter.

Frank P. Edinger, 1840 North avenue, superintendent of transportation, Chicago Surface lines—This weather is simply great. I can't see why people wish to go south this winter. And from a transportation standpoint the weather is beyond our fondest hopes. I hope it continues the remainder of our spring.

Maymie Moore, 6519 Sangamon street, clerk—Give me the zero weather, with the wind whistling merrily, snow, the ground covered with ice—and the colder the better. With ruddy cheeks and a long nose, you realize you're living. When the season calls for winter I want winter, and when it calls for summer I like to have summer.

U. G. Lee, 4049 Sheridan road, paymaster—Real California weather, this, I claim. If I had not been here myself, I could not believe Chicago could produce such weather. I stood through Lincoln park yesterday and was amazed at the number of adults and children enjoying the almost mid-summer day. I am striving for this sort of weather.

Miss Frances Grattan, 504 West Thirty-second street—I would sooner have mild cold weather. I think Chicago's climate can't be beat. It gives one a variety. But if I were the weather dictator I would try to keep the weather a little colder.

STEELE, 21,000 MEATS, $231 CASH.
Meats valued at $4,000 were stolen yesterday from the market of Zambreno Bros., 1602 West Van Buren street, by subscribers, who also looted a safe of $231.

ROBS WINNETKA PASTOR, CHOIR, EVEN POOR BOX

Then Stranger Stays to Hear Sermon!

There's a sinner in Winnetka. Consecration is rare among the fashionable parishioners of Christ's Episcopal church, of which the rector is the Rev. E. Ashley Gerhard.

The facts are that last Sunday morning while Mr. Gerhard was addressing the congregation concerning the advent of the New Year and the good resolutions entailed thereby somebody snatched his monogrammed cigarette case. Mr. Gerhard does not roll his own, which explains why the case held a dozen of a well known brand of tailor made.

Even Poor Box Robbed.
Mr. Gerhard was not the only victim. John Rankin, the choirman, lost his derby, and other members of the choir, who had left their money in their overcoat pockets in the basement cloakroom, reported they were out of pocket sums ranging from car fare to $10. The same man is thought to have robbed the poor box.

Mrs. Archibald W. Shaw, the choir mother, saw him. She was in one of the basement anterooms when she heard footsteps in the cloakroom. She looked out. The man was standing near the entrance of the cloak room. He was about 20 years old and wore among other articles a gray checked overcoat.

Enjoys the Sermon, Too.
As he had never seen him before she asked:

"Are you a member of the choir?"

"No," he said. "I was just attending services and lost my way."

He went upstairs later, and Mrs. Shaw observed him sitting in a pew close to the pulpit. He sat throughout Mr. Gerhard's sermon and seemed to enjoy it, parishioners in adjacent pews said.

There are thirty-two members of Christ's church choir. They did not learn of the thefts until after the services. The stranger, however, had left after shaking hands with an usher at the door and promising to return again.

Man Found Shot Asserts Men in Auto Wounded Him
August Szatalkis of 4558 South Sacramento avenue was found last night at Forty-second street and Kedzie avenue with a bullet wound in his left leg. He was taken to the county hospital. He said he is a car repairer, employed by the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railroad, and that as an automobile passed he heard three explosions, then felt a stinging sensation in his leg and found a bullet in his trousers. His story is being investigated.

BEG YOUR PARDON

The Tribune on Jan. 1 printed an item regarding the resignation of E. H. Forke as general manager of the Methodist Book Concern, in which it was stated that Mr. Forke was editor of the Northwestern Christian Advocate, editor of the Epworth Herald, and member of the book committee. Mr. Forke holds none of these positions.

In THE TRIBUNE's annual review a tabulation of grain crops stated the total corn crop for 1929 was 2,232,367,000 bushels. It should have been 3,232,367,000 bushels, making the 1929 total for all five grains 5,817,642,000 bushels, as published. In the same tabulation the total of all grains for 1919 was stated as 5,273,028,000 bushels. The figures should have been 5,274,028,000.

REPORT SHOWS CRIME DECREASE CHRISTMAS WEEK

Chicago had fifty-five fewer crimes during Christmas week of 1929 than during the same week in 1919, according to Chief Fitzmorris' weekly crime report. The figures follow:

	1919.	1920.	Decrease.
Burglary	111	88	23
Robbery	68	60	8
Larceny	104	94	10
Others	26	16	10
Totals	309	258	51

"The increase in the number of robberies shows the need of a law making a life sentence the minimum sentence for robbery with a gun," the chief said.

He Cancels the $30 Call.
"He appeared awfully sad," said one; "sort of broken in spirit. I asked him several times if he was hungry, and he smiled and walked away."

Around his hotel he was known as a man of few words. The only man he ever had much to say to was Mauthe.

"He told me he was feeling bad, but I thought it was his rheumatism," said the clerk. "He was a fine old fellow and wrapped up in his postoffice job. His discharge hurt him mighty bad, but all he said to me was: 'You needn't call me any more at 6:30 o'clock.'"

F. W. SHERWOOD, BROKER WANTED HERE, IS CAUGHT
F. W. Sherwood, formerly an investment broker in the Morris Bank building, was arrested yesterday in Leavenworth by postoffice inspectors, according to a telegram received by federal officials.

Sherwood fled Chicago on Dec. 23, following a raid on his offices by a federal squad. Documents found in his safe revealed he had sold thousands of dollars' worth of worthless stocks to Chicagoans within the last year, it is said.

Federal authorities estimate the claims against him between $40,000 and $100,000. He faces trial for using the mails to defraud. Sherwood will be returned here immediately, according to A. E. Gerner, acting chief postoffice inspector.

In addition to federal charges, Sherwood also faces prosecution under the state blue sky law.

Two Hurt in Car Crash; Blame Slippery Rails
Slippery rails were blamed for a collision between a Thirty-first street car and a State street car late yesterday in which two passengers—Golden Brown, 4823 Evans avenue, and Vivian Koser, 4545 State street, both Negroes—were cut and bruised. The Thirty-first street car crashed into the center of the State street car. Motorman Joseph Schneider of the Thirty-first street car said the brakes failed to hold.

Garland building. He answers questions, receives complaints, and keeps a record of all breakdowns, accidents, derailments, and emergency calls. Certain questions he answers himself and others he turns over to the lost and found department or the heads of other departments for a reply.

Greene figures he receives an average of 400 calls an hour—many from street railway officials themselves—or about 3,200 in a day. He has been in the employ of the Chicago Surface Lines for twenty-seven years, during twenty-six of which he has served as "trouble" operator. Figuring 960,000 calls to a year of 300 working days, he has answered 24,500,000 calls during his entire service.

"And that isn't all," he said, "because when the weather is bad they come in at the rate of about ten a minute."

THE OTHER FELLOW'S JOB

WE have with us this morning a man who claims to have more trouble poured into his car every day than any other person in Chicago. For eight hours a day he listens via telephone to complaints like the following at the rate of six a minute:

"Why do I have to wait seven minutes for a car?"

"I left my purse on the car yesterday. Have you got it?"

"Why won't the cars stop for me? Two passed me by."

"At what temperature are you supposed to keep the cars?"

"Conductor No. — refused to accept my transfer. I demand a refund."

It May Have Been Great as a Play

"THE RIDDLE: WOMAN"

Produced by Associated Exhibitors.
Directed by Edward José.
Presented at the Ziegfeld.

THE CAST

Lilla... Geraldine Farrar
Kristine... Adele Blood
Eric Helinger... William P. Carleton
Richard... Frank Lowe
Marie Meyer... Madge Bellamy
Isaac Meyer... Louis Stern

By Mae Tinee.

You will find "The Riddle: Woman" a strange jumble of amateurishness and sophistication, lavishly sets and stilted subtleties, with Geraldine Farrar ploughing emotionally about in its midst. She is superbly Amazonian—a lady of large loins, limbs and hats. There are moments when you are fond of her, but there are many others that catch you murmuring with narrowed eyes:

"Sing, Geraldine, sing!"

The picture is an adaptation of the play, in which Bertha Kalich starred. Carl Jacoby wrote the story, which is of three women who, one by one, fall into the clutches of a suave blackmailer who pierces each heart with his one stock arrow:

"For ages I have been looking for you—and now, at last, I have found you!" "Lady, lady, you laugh! But did it sound like stone age stuff when first you heard it?"

One woman is crushed. One weathers the storm and saves the other. The route?

"It's killed by fair hands."

"As is right, the prize!"

"And you will agree."

"He croaks none too soon!"

I imagine that Miss Kalich as the riddle woman, was something to solve. Miss Farrar's Lilla—due quite possibly to poor direction—becomes mere histrionics, and she is accompanied by a cast of clever people whose suffering must have been intense during many of the situations.

FASHION'S BLUE BOOK

BY CORINNE LOWE.

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondent.]—No, it is not a towel, but a fashionable young miss, who has essayed to wear a frunk of navy blue serge all around round or wound up with inset bands of black silk painted in exasperating folds. The irregularity of the bands adds to the attractiveness of the model, which stress the narrow silhouette, widened hip line, and the Tuxedo collar. Lace contributes the vestee. The chapeau of black satin adds a plume of pigeon gray, perhaps to broken the approach of Lent and the incoming of penitential colors.

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

How to Bake a Potato.

First, let us say that no one who has eaten a potato baked in hot ashes, not too hot, but not too far distant from a nice bed of coals buried in those same ashes, will be likely to admit that there is any better way of baking it. And it does not take so great an amount of ashes either. The potatoes need not be well covered, but a hot brick hearth below will be all right.

Some people bake potatoes in a 500 degree oven, but we may consider a 400 degree oven a hot oven, hot enough, specially for large potatoes. In the hotter oven the skins will become too dry, or actually burned, so that the steam which inevitably forms in the potatoes cannot escape in the slight measure necessary and the potato will be soggy, and in all probability of uneven quality, perhaps with a "bone" in the middle.

The general rule is that the inside of a potato when baking should not be much above boiling point in heat, or the potato will burst. If it can, if the skin is black and rocky it cannot. A baked potato is the most easily digested of any just because it is cooked at the higher temperature.

Some one I know used to think her sister baked potatoes better than any one else in the world. She pricked each potato half a dozen times with a two tines fork, and then baked them in not too hot an oven. The steam could escape through the prickings, and probably the heat penetrated farther and better.

Some people prick or in some way break the skin of a potato when it is nearly baked. When a baked potato is to be used after cold for warming up in cream it must be broken open the moment it is done; otherwise it will be soggy.

As I was glancing through some magazines I happened to notice an advertisement offering a considerable amount of money for a poem that would best tell the virtues of a new brand of cough drops. The New York Times.

New York, Jan. 3.—[Special.]—No sudden lowering of money rates occurred today in the first financial market of the new year. The familiar 7 1/2 per cent rate on six months commercial loans and merchants' paper was again the order of the day, and all money on the stock exchange did not vary from the previous day. Even the 100 per cent rate on the 100 per cent rate of the week of December the subsidizing of the market to a normal or easy basis rarely occurred until after the first business days of the new year.

It was noteworthy, however, that on London's market today's rate for day to day stock exchange loans was 4 1/2 per cent, as against 5 per cent on the 1st of December, and the rate for one month loan was 5 per cent, as compared with 6 1/2 per cent, as compared with 6 1/2 per cent.

Stocks Continue Recovery.

The stock exchange began the year with further recovery in prices. This advance, which in the end ran in number of stocks to 2 and 3 points, was rather the nature of a continuance of last week's firm upward reaction than recovery to anything like changed conditions.

Wall Street Ascribed the Rise of the Recovery.

Wall street ascribed the rise of the recovery, which affected mainly the industrial shares, to the buying back of stocks which owners had sold to "establish losses." Last week sales of the character referred to almost reached a pitch of hysteria. It followed reasoning enough that the next action by many of the sellers would be determined by the course of the stocks themselves. When prices showed a tendency to quick advance it was natural that something of a scramble to buy them back should have ensued.

Railway Stocks, Although Also Slightly Higher, Did Not Participate in the Rapid Recovery, Which Would Be Logical on the Basis of the Reasoning.

Railway stocks, although also slightly higher, did not participate in the rapid recovery, which would be logical on the basis of the reasoning. The market showed a tendency to quick advance it was natural that something of a scramble to buy them back should have ensued.

Liberty Bonds Advance.

The bond market as a whole was advancing to those who may have looked upon the old fashioned government securities as the only safe investment. A number of investment issues rose as they did last week, thereby again proving that the market's responsiveness to any considerable reinvestment orders. But the market declined and prices were not in the main much altered.

Liberty Bonds were a notable exception.

Liberty bonds were a notable exception. The market showed a tendency to quick advance it was natural that something of a scramble to buy them back should have ensued.

Brazil Grows West

As reached the point of development to the U. S. A. we are told the young men to "Go West and grow up with the country."

Her commercial future is linked naturally to the U. S. A. She now provides our rubber, coffee, manganese ore and other products, of which we purchased nearly $200,000,000 in nine months of 1920. We provide her with machinery, implements and manufactured products, of which we shipped her over $150,000,000 in the same period.

Believing in the soundness and safety of Brazilian bonds, we have compiled a circular giving complete description of several issues we recommend. You will be interested in knowing the unusual features of these bonds.

What to do with January Funds

In 1921 the nation's business will, in our opinion, resume an aspect of sane development and rational financing which will bring about a healthier condition than the past few years have witnessed. This readjustment will make for greater strength and, therefore, renders certain types of securities—now low in price—especially attractive for investment. The following securities possessing the necessary elements of stability and financial soundness will, in our opinion, benefit materially from this readjustment.

Municipal Bonds

The bonds of selected communities whose financial stability is based on sound fundamentals conditions are extremely desirable and are free from all Federal Income Taxes. We recommend—

	Maturity	Yield
Hardin Co., Iowa, 6% Funding Bonds	1930 to 1940	5.30%
Kossuth Co., Iowa, 5 1/4% Funding Bonds	1933 to 1941	5.30%
Minneapolis, Minn., 5% Funding Bonds	1925	5.75%

Industrial Bonds

In spite of a general reduction in prices and depreciation in inventories, there are certain Industrial Corporations whose situations continue unusually strong and whose securities represent sound investments. We recommend—

Standard Oil Co. of California 10 year 7%	Jan. 1, 1931	7.00%
Gold Debentures
Armour & Co. 10 year 7%	July 15, 1930	7.75%
Convertible Gold Notes
America-Sumatra Tobacco Co. 5 year 7 1/4%	June 1, 1925	8.00%
Sinking Fund Convertible Gold Notes
Virginia-Carolina Chemical Co. 12 year 7 1/4%	Nov. 1, 1932	8.00%
Sinking Fund Gold Debenture Bonds
The Liquid Carbonic Co. 10 year 8%	Oct. 1, 1930	8.00%
Sinking Fund Gold Notes
The Beaver Board Companies 12 year 8%	Jan. 1, 1933	8.05%
Sinking Fund Gold Notes

Power Bonds

With lower costs for both labor and materials and with a continuance of present rates, it would seem that the earnings of strong power producing companies should show even greater increases during 1921. At present, therefore, selected securities of Power Companies are regarded as among the most desirable type of investment. We recommend—

Arkansas Valley Ry. Lt. & Power Co. 1st and Refd.	Nov. 1, 1931	8.05%
Mtge. 7 1/2% Sinking Fund Gold Bonds
Louisville Gas & Electric Co. Bond Secured 8%	Jan. 15, 1923	8.50%

Oklahoma Gas & Electric Co. 7%	March 1, 1921	9.60%

QUALITY IS THE BASIS OF TRIBUNE ADVERTISING

IN RESPONSE to the unusual interest which railroad securities have aroused under the changed conditions of the last year, we have included in our January issue of INVESTMENT RECOMMENDATIONS a mortgage map of one of the leading railroad systems of the country. This accompanies a description of its principal bond issue.

This map enables the investor to see at a glance the mileage covered by this issue, and the relative importance of its lien. From time to time we expect to include similar maps of other railroad systems.

ZIP WINS BIG SOUP PLANT FOR HOOSIER CITY

BY AL CHASE.

Chicago's big Hoosier suburb, Hammond, Ind., has just closed its biggest real estate deal and with it secured a great new industry, through the quick action of William J. Hastings of the real estate firm of Gostlin, Meyn & Hastings, Inc.

Mr. Hastings learned last week that Mr. Campbell Soup company of Camden, N. J., had decided to locate a big new western plant in Indianapolis. He took the first train east that day and found on arriving in Camden that the purchasing committee had received instructions to go west and close a deal for a plant in Indianapolis.

Not at all worried, Mr. Hastings stepped into the office of Soup President Derrance and told him why he should come to Hammond.

"Any one who will come a thousand miles without a letter of introduction or appointment is entitled to some consideration," commented the president. "I'll see that the committee gives Hammond the once over."

The C. O. of Hammond resulted in the sale of the Reid, Murdoch & Co. plant, comprising eleven manufacturing buildings on a sixteen acre tract, with 250,000 square feet of floor space, for a reported $1,000,000. The site was formerly the home of one of Hammond's first manufacturing plants, the Chicago Nail Mill company. Some Hammond business men have paid Reid, Murdoch & Co. a $20,000 bonus to establish their plant there. They rebuilt the old nail plant and added several buildings.

The new owner, as will remodel the present buildings to suit their needs, but future plans call for a set of six story concrete and steel buildings along the entire Calumet avenue and Hoffman street sides. Peter W. Meyn and Mr. Hastings of Gostlin, Meyn & Hastings, Inc., were the brokers.

The store now occupied by Feltman & Co., shoe dealers, at 240 South State street, in the old Hub building, has been rented by the Hilton company to M. Samuels & Co., operating the Newark Shoe stores, for ten years from May 1, 1921, at a reported aggregate rental of $470,000. Willoughby & Co. and George W. Kaiser were the brokers.

WORLD'S GRAIN
MARKET NEWS

Buying of wheat has been based largely on a belief that the milling and export demand is absorbing the surplus. With bank view of the situation and with all looking for better things, lighter offerings featured the trade yesterday. More buyers in higher prices for all grades, especially wheat, are found here and in the northwest.

A close observer says there is the largest short interest in years in wheat and corn. He believes prices are to do better. Wall street, cotton operators, the south, and the country in general are short of grains, he says. James A. Patton says he believes wheat is going higher.

Lard deliveries yesterday were 3,500,000 lbs. and short ribs 200,000 lbs. The Anglo company, an Armour house, sent out 5,000,000 lbs. of lard. It landed mostly with commission houses.

It is estimated by the Minneapolis federal reserve bank that 62 per cent of the northwestern spring wheat crop has already been marketed. Not all of this has been sold, however, farmers making storage tickets for a considerable amount. Private estimates on North Dakota say 50 per cent remains in farmers' hands.

Broomhall estimates the world's available exportable surplus of wheat at 728,600,000 bu., including a carry over of 46,000,000 bu. afloat, while import requirements are estimated at around 560,000,000 bu.

The Corn Products plant at Argo, Ill., has resumed grinding corn on a five day a week basis. The American Maize plant at Rock, Ind., is running at half capacity. The Staley Starch works at Decatur, Ill., will start next week.

Lard stocks in Chicago increased 13,135,000 lbs. last month and are 21,375,000 lbs. against 21,578,000 lbs. the year. Stocks of all meats at 88,073,000 lbs. increased 21,135,000 lbs. in December, and compare with a total of 117,730,000 lbs. last year.

Total stocks of contract wheat in public elevator in Chicago are 821,000 bu.; corn, 950,000 bu. and oats, 3,081,000 bu. For the week wheat increased 126,000 bu., corn 630,000 bu., and oats 54,000 bu.

Indian shipments of wheat last week were 112,000 bu., with 1,080,000 bu. forecast for this week.

Building Permits

Eight building permits were issued yesterday, including: 11 S. La Salle, 5 story brick addition to office building; estate of Leander J. McCormick, power; 301 S. La Salle, 1 story brick residence; Tina Hermonson, owner; Ernest Braucher, arch.; 301 S. La Salle, 1 story brick residence; 13,000 sq. ft., and 100,000 sq. ft.

As In Selling—So Also In Advertising

One salesman is a wonder; another is a dud

ONE advertisement thrusts itself out of the page; with bold clear logic, it impels you to buy; another leaves you absolutely cold.

Why? In both cases the answer is the same. The successful salesman, the successful advertisement, both concentrate on the dominating appeal, sweep away all opposition to the buying impulse. Without waste of words, sometimes without literary style, they strike straight home to the weak spot in your armor, to the keynote that loosens the purse strings.

Albert Frank & Company know how to grasp the true selling appeal; how to present it dominantly and persuasively—and, last but not least, how to co-ordinate advertising with sales effort.

RAILROAD NOTES
Statistics for October, just compiled by the Bureau of railroad economics, show the average daily movement per freight car during that month was the greatest for any month in the last four years with one exception. The average was 28.5 miles an increase of two-fifths of a mile over the preceding month. The October mark was higher than that for any month of government control and was passed in the last four years only in May, 1917, when an average of twenty-nine miles was attained. While the net ton miles total was smaller than that for August, the number of cars loaded with revenue freight during October amounted to 4,979,377, the greatest number during a similar period in the history of American railroads.

The chairman of which Charles A. Peabody is vice chairman and which represents the first and refunding 4 per cent bonds of the Missouri, Kansas and Nebraska Railway, announced an extension of one year from Jan. 20, 1921, of the agreement under which the deposit of bonds with the Guaranty Trust Company was requested.

The New Haven is laying off about 2,000 men this week, chiefly from the mechanical departments and among track workers.

The American Car & Foundry company has received an order for 1,500 freight cars from the Louisville and Nashville.

H. A. Dunn and Frank Johnson have been appointed receivers for the Toledo and Western. It is reported from Toledo.
